JURY AWARD FOR LAND IS OVERRULED

State Supreme Court Orders New Trial

A $30,500 land condemnation award to a local contractor was overruled by the State Supreme court and a new jury trial ordered.

In a five page opinion, the Montgomery County Common Pleas court was ordered to set a new date for the trial in which Earl M. Kerstetter claimed damages for land condemned nearly five years ago for the Route 100 bypass.

The high court's decision was a victory for the State and former Pottstown attorney, Daniel L. Quinlan, now a special State attorney. Quinlan argued that a new trial was required when Judge David Groshens admitted into evidence several subdivision plot plans which were not recorded at the court house before condemnation proceedings started.

The decision is the latest in a chain of events which saw a mistrial, a nearly hung jury, an appeal and a lengthy delay because of illness.

THE 3.2 ACRES in Kerstetter's Clearview street development was condemned in 1956 and two years later, in Oct., 1958, a jury of view awarded Kerstetter $35,000. Quinlan immediately appealed for a jury.

Police End Second Month Of Blakely Murder Probe

The second monthly milestone of intensive police investigation into the baffling double murder of Mr. and Mrs. Paige Russell Blakely will be passed tomorrow, with authorities proclaiming that they still seek their first "substantial" evidence to pin down a killer or killers.

The bizarre slaying came to light March 28, with the discovery of the elderly couple's bodies in a second floor bedroom of their modest 42 Chestnut street home.

Police Friday revealed that they are "convinced nothing of the nature of clues or evidence" remains to be found at the scene of the crime.

Pottstown Police Chief Harold E. Hahn said the dwelling is being turned over to Security Trust company, executors of the Blakely estate, for disposition of the property and belongings.

IN RECENT weeks the probe has turned to Augusta Springs, Va., the Blakely homestead, and hometown to many Blakely relatives.

Pottstown Det. Sgt. Thomas A. Lawler, County Det. Julius Roehner and State Trooper Thomas Cuff returned from the Blue Ridge mountain village Friday.

Their week-long visit there consisted of taking numerous sworn statements from individuals who might shed some light on the crime.

A previous ten-day visit early in May was unproductive. Chief Hahn, after reading the reports on the work just completed, said the investigation had revealed "nothing substantial." Chief Hahn noted, "This was a very carefully planned crime. Our investigation must be just as careful and painstaking."

Storm Precedes 'Blanket' Weather

Record approaching low temperatures were expected to come to the Pottstown area early this morning to continue a cooling high this afternoon is near 60. Trend that started with a heavy rainstorm Friday.

A low temperature of 40 degrees was predicted for this morning as a cold front moves in from the west. The record low temperature for the date is 41 degrees, set in 1915.

The cold spell is expected to continue through today and tonight. Sunnier skies and higher temperatures are due tomorrow.

The trend started with a heavy shower that began Friday shortly before 1 p.m. and brought the greatest portion of the day's total of 1.04 inches of rainfall.

THE INTENSE storm flooded gutters throughout Pottstown. Downtown streets, where there were no catch basins, were covered with water.

The mercury tumbled 12 degrees during the storm, from the day's high of 78 to 66. It continued dropping throughout the afternoon and evening and was in the upper 40s shortly after midnight.

Pottstown got some wind, but was in the center of a storm area that brought more violent winds to surrounding area.

A violent wind storm injured four children and uprooted trees in Lancaster, and high winds were reported in Philadelphia and Allentown.

The Upper Perkiomen valley received a great quantity of rain during the day.

REVOLUTION WAR SOLDIERS TO BE HONORED

Ellis Woods Rites Scheduled by Veterans

Memorial services commemorating 17 Revolutionary war soldiers will be conducted to-morrow afternoon in Ellis Woods in East Coventry township at 2:30 o'clock.

The ceremony will be opened by William Fraser, general chairman, with greetings, followed by a prayer offered by Brigadier Paul White of the Salvation Army.

The music will be furnished by the Pottstown Band under the direction of William F. Lamb Jr.

The Spanish War Veterans will be on hand to place 13-star flags on the graves of the soldiers, and assisting them will be the VFW and the American Legion Post 780.

A BOUQUET of flowers will also be placed on each grave by the USWV Auxiliary, assisted by the VFW auxiliary and the American Legion auxiliary and JWV.

The main speaker for the affair is Charles E. Stiles, controller of Freedoms Foundation.

Musical selections will also be offered by Mrs. Freda Phillips.

The soldier's salute will be by the Pottstown Veterans (Continued on Page Five)

Couple Files Suit In Federal Court

A $251,200 damage suit was filed Friday in Federal District court by the parents of a Lincoln youth fatally injured almost a year ago when he was struck by a car while standing in the parking lot of an Exeter township restaurant.

Named in the suit filed on behalf of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Lewiski Sr. were Barry Musser, the driver of the automobile which struck and killed Michael Lewiski Jr.; several representatives of a firemen's beneficial association, the beneficial association, and the Electrical Workers union of Reading.

The suit charged that Musser, 19, consumed a large quantity of intoxicating beverages at an electrical union affair at the social quarters of the Goodwill Beneficial association, an auxiliary of the Goodwill Fire company, of Hyde Park, before the accident.

The Goodwill association was negligent in leasing the social quarters to the union, the complaint states, when it was known that intoxicating beverages would be served to minors. It also said that the union is responsible for any damages resulting from the negligence or misconduct of its members defendants.

THE SUIT claims $1250 for funeral expenses, $150,000 for loss of contribution to parents, $25,000 for pain and suffering endured by the victim and $75,000 for loss of economic value of the victim during his life expectancy.

With the warm weather here to stay, fuel oil prices can be expected to drop again within the next three weeks, according to Benjamin Longaker, president of the Schuylkill Valley Oil company.

Longaker said that as a retail distributor, he sets his prices according to the trends established by the major oil companies. "It is normal for prices to drop when supply and demand falls off," Longaker said.

Fuel oil prices dropped by one half cent a gallon three weeks ago in the Pottstown area. "In Philadelphia, the prices have dropped another half cent," Longaker said, "so we can expect a like reduction here."

Borough Solicitor C. Edmund Wells was named to the community transportation committee Friday by Council President J. Wayne Knause.

The committee, formed Thursday to seek a solution to the borough's transportation crisis, now has 15 members. All but four of the persons named—and they were unavailable Friday—said they would be glad to serve.

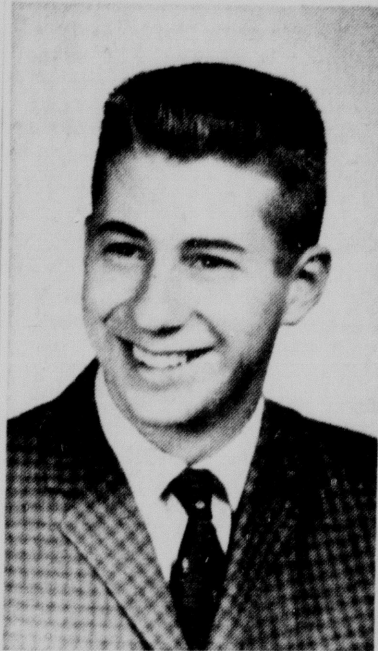

Knause explained that "it was only an oversight that left Mr. Wells off the original committee. As the borough's chief legal advisor, he will certainly be serving on the committee."

The transportation crisis was precipitated when the Pottstown Rapid Transit company announced that it is asking the Public Utility commission to allow it to suspend service. The company serves a million passengers.

Salon Backers Hit Seidel 'Jealousy'

"It's pure jealousy." "It's an outrage against private enterprise." "It's the most unneighborly thing I've heard of."

These were only a few of the remarks made Friday by neighbors, customers and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Albert D. Derecola, 247 Price street, in protest against the complaint of Borough assessor Horace L. Seidel resulting in a borough order to close down a North End beauty salon.

Charges of "petty politics" and "unfair pressure" were hurled at Seidel by sympathizers of the Derecolas in the mushrooming attack against the order which would close their beauty salon, known as Sparky and Joanne's, 247 Price street, next Thursday.

"WHAT RIGHT has one jealous man to ruin the results of 10 years hard work?" was the irate query of one neighbor, Mrs. Ethel M. Sieck, 1405 North Keim street.

French Parachutist Warns of Folly In Self Determination for Algeria

By RADFORD CROUSE (Mercury Staff Writer)

A Frenchman, an ex-paratrooper, lounged in the living room of a home in the green hills of North Coventry township Friday and told of adventure in the blue sky over Algeria.

He spoke of the past, for he was home and with his family after nearly a year spent in one of the most hazardous occupations in one of the most troubled countries in the world.

Alain Floquet, 26, has jumped from airplanes 101 times. Most of those parachute jumps were made into the strife-torn land of Algeria.

Just this month he was discharged from the French paratroop corps and last weekend returned to his wife, the former Joanne Pentz, and his 13 month old daughter, Manon Elizabeth. They are staying at the country home of Mrs. Floquet's parents, Dr. and Mrs. C. R. Pentz, off Laurelwood road in North Coventry.

Borough Manager Will Return to Work

Borough Manager Robert H. McKinney Jr. is expected to return to work Wednesday. He was admitted to Pottstown hospital for a checkup five days ago and released Friday.

The tall, athletic-looking Frenchman spoke of Algeria with insight, and of paratrooping with a sincere, though reserved, pride.

Communism is to be feared in the French province torn by a series of rebellions and counter-rebellions in the past seven years, Floquet declared. He spoke from his experience as a French Army officer in dealing with the nationalist rebels.

"The Moslems in Algeria have a very small minority of well-educated people. Any history book you read will show that this minority wants to be free and can be free and live by itself."

"But there is a great majority of men who are really backward. They follow anyone who will lead them to what they think is a better life."

"Communists back these people. Perhaps they can't take over as soon as the French leave, but two or three years later."

"It's the same thing as the Congo, or like Laos. First they cause trouble, they persuade the people to get free of what's governing them. Then, when there is freedom, the Communists turn the nationalistic movement to their own use."

Floquet paused a moment to light a cigaret. His wife picked up his explanation.

Yale Chaplain Declares Peace Corps Will Suffer

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Yale University's chaplain walked free from jail with four fellow integrationists Friday and warned that President Kennedy's Peace Corps will have to "bear the burden" of recent race riots here.

The Rev. William S. Coffin Jr. and three other white college professors were released under individual bonds of $1,000, along with a Negro student, after spending 28 hours in jail following a bus station integration attempt. They planned to leave for home.

Six others, all Negroes, remained behind bars, and an attorney said they may protest by refusing to eat.

Coffin, a member of the President's Youth Corps Advisory Council, told waiting newsmen as he stepped outside: "While I have been in jail I have had time to think of every Peace Corps man and woman, whether they come from the North or South, and particularly those going to Tanzania, the Philippines and then Colombia."

"They will have to bear the burden of Montgomery, Ala."

He called his arrest and the detention of his companions "blatantly illegal" and a "travesty on justice."

The Yale chaplain and the four others posted cash bonds with funds donated by well-wishers back home.

Their departure from jail was delayed more than an hour after their formal release while they waited for a National Guard convoy for an unannounced destination within the city.

Also released were the Rev. Gaylord B. Noyce, assistant professor of religion at Yale; Dr. David E. Swift, professor of religion at Wesleyan University at Middletown, Conn.; Dr. John Maguire, assistant professor of religion at Wesleyan, and George B. Smith, a Negro student at Yale.

Their attorney, Charles Conley of Montgomery, said they agreed to post bond so they could return to school in time for final exams Monday and Tuesday.

Conley said money for the bonds came from fellow professors and students at Yale. However, at Middletown, faculty members at Wesleyan also had announced that contributions had been sent here to provide bail.

Remaining in jail were three of the South's leading integration leaders — the Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy of Montgomery, the Rev. F. L. Shuttlesworth of Birmingham and the Rev. Wyatt Tee Walker of Atlanta — two Negro students and a former Negro college campus leader expelled last year for antisegregation demonstrations.

Clyde L. Carter and Charles Jones, students at Johnson C. Smith University in Charlotte, N.C., and the Rev. Bernard Lee of Atlanta stayed with the Negro leaders.

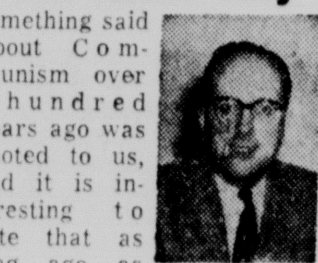

Conley said they may remain in jail until June 16, the date set something said about Communism over a hundred years ago was quoted to us, and it is interesting to note that as long ago as 1860, when Karl Marx and Friedrich Engels' Communist Manifesto was only 12 years old, intelligent men knew Revolutionary Communism for what it was and is. Joseph E. Renan who lived from 1823 to 1892 said, "Institutions grounded on Communism always have brilliant beginnings, for Communism involves a great exaltation; but they decline rapidly, for Communism is in conflict with human nature."

Only with force over enslaved men could it endure as long as it has today. Communist overlords must keep their peoples under their heels for exactly the reason Renan stated, that it is in conflict with human nature, in conflict with the aspirations of ordinary men everywhere. That is why the iron boot will never be lifted voluntarily off the peoples' necks without a miracle. That is why, when we celebrate Memorial Day, we might well also pray for the living who suffer in the Red world, and give a fervent thanks to God for America!

Air Force Bomber Sets Transatlantic Record

PARIS (AP)—A U.S. Air Force B58 bomber flashed across the Atlantic Friday to commemorate Charles A. Lindbergh's flight, and the Hustler's feat got the event off to a rousing start.

The unofficial flight time of the Hustler, was 6 hours 15 minutes for its whole trip from Carswell Air Force base in Texas to Le Bourget.

The ocean section—3,669 miles—broke the record for flights between the continents. The previous transatlantic record—5 hours 45 minutes—was set by a Boeing 707 commercial jet.

The Hustler, piloted by Maj. William Payne, made the flight from Texas nonstop, refueling in the air.

Gen. Leon Johnson, air deputy to the supreme Allied commander in Europe, Gen. Lauris Norstad, headed a group of senior officers who welcomed Payne and his crew.

The Hustler landed at Le Bourget to a rousing welcome from senior U.S. officers in Europe and officials of the 24th International

Middle-Aged Women Are Slain; Suspect Accuses His Partner

PLAINFIELD, N.J. (AP)—Two middle-aged socialites — one of them a grandmother — were abducted and slain early Friday. From the appearance of their seminude bodies, authorities surmised that they also had been molested sexually.

Acting on tips from an alert patrolman and a cabby who knew one of the victims, police picked up two young Negroes. They were held on suspicion of murder.

After a day of questioning, Union County Prosecutor H. Douglas Stine announced that one of the suspects, Loretta Parks, 22, of Plainfield, named the second suspect, Joseph Maxey, 23, of Plainfield, as "the perpetrator of both of these murders."

Parks also claimed that Maxey raped both women, Stine said.

Earlier in the day both men had denied participating in the crimes, although they admitted being at the scene where the bodies were found.

But Detective Daniel Hennessey told newsmen: "They both implicated themselves so far that they can't get out of it."

The dead were: Mrs. Elliott E. Ewell, 49, of Westfield, the wife of the executive vice president of the Mack Truck Co. of Plainfield.

Mrs. Robert Tyson, 50, of Plainfield, a grandmother and the wife of a New York stockbroker and former Mack executive.

While doctors examined the bodies, Union County Prosecutor H. Douglas Stine said: "From the appearance at the scene this morning, there seems to have been a sexual attack. The women had their undergarments torn from them."

The body of Mrs. Ewell, stripped below the waist and with her red silk dress over her head, was found crumpled under the front wheel of her white 1960 Cadillac. Detectives said she had been run over more than once, apparently as she tried to flee.

Clothing was torn off the body of Mrs. Tyson. She was found strangled inside the car.

The auto was found nosed into underbrush in a deserted field at the end of Milton Place at Berkeley Terrace.

Stockings and a girdle were found strewn in the field.

Also found in the car was Mrs. Ewell's puppy, "Mimi." The dog was unhurt and asleep. The key to the car and a wallet belonging to one of the women was found in Parks' possession, police said.

Police credited the quick arrests to Patrolman John Trembicki of Scotch Plains and Wilbur Morris, a cabby who witnessed the abduction shortly after 1 a.m.

Police were holding Morris as a material witness.

Trembicki had spotted a black 1951 Chevrolet around midnight and jotted down the license number because the car looked suspicious. When he heard of the double slaying on the police radio four hours later, he called Plainfield police, who traced the car to Maxey. Detectives said Maxey implicated Parks and both were arrested.

The two women, Mrs. Ewell's son, James 23, a Columbia University student, and Mrs. Tyson's husband, attended a party Thursday night at Herm's restaurant, a South Plainfield night spot.

Tyson left early because he did not feel well. James took the women home.

Police said that James had been drinking heavily and quar-

Kennedy Asks Overhaul Of Foreign Aid Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy Friday asked Congress for a sweeping overhaul of the foreign aid program. He proposed a $4.8-billion aid effort for the coming year and $7.3 billions in borrowing authority over the next five years for easy-term economic development loans abroad.

The program faces an uncertain future at the hands of the lawmakers, not only because of the higher expense which Kennedy said is necessary to fight the Communist threat around the world but also because of some of the new ideas it contains.

President Orders Reduction Of FHA Home Mortgage Rate

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy Friday ordered the FHA interest rate on home mortgages cut from 5½ to 5¼ per cent.

Coupled with an earlier one-fourth of one per cent reduction, the White House said this means a savings of $4.47 a month to the purchaser of a $15,000 home with a 20-year mortgage.

Kennedy also announced that: 1. The Federal National Mortgage Association will step up purchases of mortgages in the secondary market.

2. The Federal Home Loan Bank Board is embarking on a new effort, through bank advances at lower rates, to encourage savings and loan associations to reduce mortgage interest rates.

The White House said these actions are extensions of previous steps taken by the President to roll interest rates back from levels that he and the officers of many leading lending institutions regarded as unrealistic.

The FHA rate was lowered from 5½ per cent to 5¼ per cent a couple of months ago.

With the additional reduction ordered Friday, the White House said the monthly mortgage payments for principal, interest and FHA insurance premium now will be $85.59 for a 20-year mortgage on a $15,000 home. Under the old FHA rate of 5½ per cent, the figure was $90.06.

Attorneys Raise $5000 Bond for Convicted Woman

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sally T. Hucks, convicted of obstructing a Senate committee investigating Teamsters Union officials, was sentenced Friday to a prison term of 20 months to five years.

She was jailed briefly but then was released on $5,000 bond pending appeal. Her attorney, Benjamin Fitzgerald, said the bond was raised by attorneys who interested themselves in the case.

Judge Edward A. Tamm, in imposing the sentence, denied Mrs. Hucks' plea that she be permitted to appeal without paying the costs, as a pauper. But she was released when the appeal was filed by her attorney later.

Mrs. Hucks, a former telephone operator at the hotel where Teamsters President James R. Hoffa often stayed, was convicted April 15 on nine of 10 counts. The indictment charged she altered and destroyed hotel records of telephone calls made by Hoffa and other Teamsters officials.

The government contended the records were destroyed to hide them from investigators for the Senate rackets committee looking into Hoffa's activities.

The maximum sentence on the charges would have been 45 years in prison and a $47,000 fine.

PARENTS ASK Skippack Board DAMAGES IN SON'S DEATH

Berks county prison for a period of four to 23 months on charges arising out of the accident in which Lewis, 25, and Mrs. Mary Downs, 36, of Birdsboro, were killed. He was charged with involuntary manslaughter.

Both victims were standing on the parking lot of the Santa Fe inn along Route 422 in Exeter township when Musser spun off the road. The accident occurred on May 28, 1960.

Named as defendants along with Musser were Randall M. Hadley and George W. Lindemuth, both of Hyde Park and members of the beneficial association and the union; Eugene Schoeng, Shoemakersville RD. George Hummel, 224 Walnut and Clyde R. Snyder, Reading, street, and Carolyn Smith, 960 of the union; the beneficial association and the union.

The complaints were filed by Reading Attorney Calvin Lieberman and Frederick J. Giorgi.

Skippack Board Raises Tax Rate

The Skippack township school board raised its real estate tax two mills, to 45, but decreased its occupation tax at a meeting in the Collegeville-Trappe High school.

The occupation levy will be 50 mills in the next fiscal year and will be based on a revised Montgomery county tax scale, directors decided at the Thursday night meeting. It is 100 mills this year.

The Trappe and Collegeville school boards, members of the Perkiomen jointure with Skippack, also made tax adjustments. Each lowered its real estate millage from 45 to 40 mills and instituted a 100 mill occupation levy.

All three boards also readopted $15 per capita taxes.

PUPILS FIND FIRST FLIGHT IS 'THRILLING'

Pottsgrove Seniors Tour Nation's Capital

Two Pottsgrove High school seniors "had the thrill of our lives" when they flew to Washington, D.C., Friday in an annual trip sponsored by John Basco, owner of the Basco Flying service.

The seniors, Jay Novack and Linda Young, flew to the capital with Basco where they toured the White House and saw the Senate in session. The pupils were chosen by Jesse Rosenberry, high school principal.

The trip is an annual event sponsored by Basco, who also manages the Pottstown Municipal airport. It was the first plane flight for both pupils.

"We had the thrill of our lives," Novack, 628 Center street, Stowe, said. "The plane ride was as thrilling as the tour of Washington."

Novack is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Novack. Miss Young, Pottstown Route 18, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Saylor.

Unavailable but expected to serve are Harvard Fosnacht, superintendent of the Pottstown school system; Chamber of Commerce President A. Ralph Thomas; Robert Garber, president of United Rubber Workers local 336 and president of the local union presidents association; and Morris Gavin, plant manager for Dana corporation. Knause expects to call a meeting of the committee, which he will head, during the week of June 4.

Credit for Teenagers Is Tried in Town

Should charge accounts be opened to teenagers?

Department stores and shops throughout Pottstown, as well as the nation, have mixed reactions to this question of the financial responsibility of the high school set.

Although national trends indicate a mild interest among businessmen to extend credit to this potentially lucrative field, many reservations and financial pitfalls have caused store owners to adopt a cautious approach in fully endorsing the move.

Here in Pottstown, two establishments have experimented with the teenage charge and both report success with the program.

Dorothy Blum, in charge of credit at the Charming Shoppes said credit to Junior and Senior High school pupils began two years ago and is very successful.

"We haven't had too much of a problem with the accounts," Mrs. Blum said, "but we do insist that parents know when a teenager opens an account."

We place a $12 limit on the charge, and the girls must pay Young, Pottstown Route 18, is every week. The reason we started the program was to teach the younger girls how to use a charge account, so they will know when they get older."

AT RUSSELL'S women's apparel shop, Albert Gould, manager, voiced equal praise for the system.

"The parent must have the final say when a youngster buys on credit. If the parent does not approve on a purchase, it may be returned. In most instances, the child selects something of which the parents approve."

Gould also said the area of demand for teenage credit is in the junior and senior years of high school. "Naturally, we are discreet in extending credit in this area, but we've found it to be most successful."

Taking a look at the other side of the picture, Earl Owens, manager of Penney's department store, voiced this opinion on the subject: "We do not extend credit to teenagers simply because a person is not financially responsible until the age of 21."

"We are aware that some stores across the nation that started the program are now trying to eliminate it. Although I will add that we certainly give every consideration to those under 21 who have established firmly in a job for at least a year. We feel that where a charge account service is needed in the high school age area, the parent's charge account would suffice."

BOTH JACK Hoffman of the New York store, and John Staban, credit manager of Weitzkorn's, shared Owens' opinion. Hoffman said the New York store did not "feel it was advisable, since a number of stores have tried it and have not been happy with it." Staban, however, is making a study banas reiterated the point made and will wait and see how successful the national trend is.

"We have always extended credit to teenagers," Pollock said, "but with the stipulation that the parents co-sign. As far as a specific teenage credit program, we are making a study banas reiterated the point made and will wait and see how successful the national trend is."

Saturday Sermon

Information Please

By EDGAR T. CHRISMER, Pastor
Transfiguration Lutheran Church

"Every Common Bush," Dr. Chrismer's new book, is a collection of 62 inspirational articles. This Saturday sermon is not an excerpt, but the book contains many essays you'll enjoy. It's on sale at H. F. Smith & Son, High and Charlotte street, The Lighthouse, King and Penn street, and The Heritage Book Shop, 10 North Evans street.

It was late afternoon at a mid-western town airport and traffic was at a temporary halt.

Two would-be pilots slipped unnoticed into a light two-seater plane parked near the runway and began warming up the motor. This was to be their first flight, and they felt the owner of the plane would certainly not object to cooperating in such a valuable aeronautical experiment.

The pilots studied aviation diligently, and decided to borrow a plane to test their education!

After taxiing onto the runway they made a perfect takeoff. They flew along steadily, taking turns at the controls. They experienced no difficulty, their text books proved entirely adequate!

After having flown more than 100 miles, they neared the state border and decided to land. Choosing a relatively smooth field they brought the plane down.

But as they taxied to a halt, one wheel hit a soft spot and the landing gear buckled!

The two ten-year-old boys climbed out! Their instruction books—comic books on aviation—said nothing about soft spots on runways!

A little knowledge can be dangerous! It's strange how much you have to know before you know how little you know! It's what you learn after you know it all that counts!

A man of 60 often is more surprised to find himself right about something than he was at 20 to find himself wrong about anything!

The reason colleges are often called storehouses of knowledge is that the freshmen bring so much of it in and the seniors take so little of it out!

Half knowledge is worse than ignorance! A nurse was on duty alone in a hospital ward one warm summer night and answered numerous requests for glasses of water.

After "lights out," when her patients were all asleep, she quietly made the rounds of her ward again in the dark, collecting the used water glasses.

As she tiptoed from the dark ward into the brightly lighted hall, she glanced down at the tray full of glasses and gasped.

In each one reposed a shiny set of false teeth—and she had no idea whose was whose!

It is better not to know so much if what you know is false!

It seems we believe most positively what we know the least!

Some people depend for their facts on their imagination! Once they get their facts they can distort them as they please.

Information means nothing unless it is correctly understood!

Once when Hollywood actor John Carradine was a boy of 17, he drifted into Greenwich Village hungry, broke and ambitious.

He went to the studio of the famous sculptor Henry Hering to ask for a job. He found the sculptor on a ladder working on a project, and wearing a strange costume of morning coat, striped trousers, wing collar and puffed tie. He looked down and asked:

"What do you want?"

"I want a job," answered Carradine boldly.

"Get out! Get out of here!" the sculptor yelled back.

Carradine got out, but for more than 20 years he remembered with bitterness that unpleasant meeting.

Then one night he happened to meet Hering and reminded him of that 20-year-old rebuff. Hering didn't remember the incident until Carradine mentioned his strange dress.

"Oh, I remember now," said Hering sadly. "You came to my studio a few hours before I buried my wife!"

We may have a right to our own opinion, but we have no right to be wrong in our facts!

A man's judgment can be no better than his information.

For a wise man knows when to speak his mind and when to mind his speech!

Sound & Fury From Boyertown

Pottstown Just Jealous

To the Editor: I'm in tenth grade in Boyertown and I'm not in the band, twirling corp or anything like that, but I'll stick up for them and my school anytime.

I think it was very little of you what you said about Boyertown. If you're so jealous, why didn't Pottstown, and you go to Washington, too, then Boyertown would have had competition (as you say)?

The only reason Boyertown got so many trophies is because in my opinion they are the best whether you like it or not.

If Pottstown is best in everything then why don't they always win when they go to Washington?

About two years ago when Boyertown won, they came home crying because they won and Pottstown came home crying because they lost.

What may I ask happened to them then? I'd also like to see Boyertown and Pottstown meet just to see what would happen.

In my opinion Pottstown thinks they have to be best in everything. If they aren't, they can't take it if somebody else turns out to be better than them.

I'm sure the people that went along with Boyertown to Washington know they all won fair and square. (Even if they wouldn't have won I'd still stick to them.)

Shanesville PAULINE HEIMBACH

Chicken Out?

To the Editor: In answer to the letter of a Majorette, I think we the champs deserve the right to speak our part also.

Could it be, Trojans, that you saw us practicing and drilling before our victorious trip to Washington, D. C.?

Maybe it opened your eyes and you realized that you didn't have a chance in a million to even place in the AAA competition.

I'll grant you one thing.

You dropped out like good cowards.

But don't feel bad; certain black cats have a stripe down their backs just like yours.

Try next year if you have the nerve.. Maybe, with a lot of luck you will place.

To the Editor: In answer to the letter written by Majorette ("Just Second Best") if the subject matter wouldn't have been brought up shows that the Pottstown marching unit doesn't know exactly where they stand.

But anyone acquainted with their marching and music can tell you that they had just been happy and take a good "second best."

If they are so darn good, why don't you see them marching?

Hearing a little noise at football games and holding their own AAA parade doesn't prove a thing!

Boyertown has worked hard and had plenty of good competition at Washington and they certainly proved that we are tops! Boyertown "HORN BLOWER"

Corrections Are Made

To the Editor: In reference to statements made by L. Major in the May 16 issue of your paper, I would like to make a few corrections.

First, the tax issue was not sprung too suddenly.

Limerick and Linfield Fire companies held discussions on the subject for at least five years.

It also came up at the Board of Supervisor's meeting a few times, this meeting is open to the public.

Second, both companies do not solicit funds in the eastern end of township. L. Major is not an active fireman in the Limerick or Linfield Fire companies.

If Linfield, Limerick or Royersford has any firemen with L. Major's ideas, the brotherly feeling among firemen may be torn apart.

We were not surprised to see a few politicians campaign against the one mill tax, but we were surprised to see active firemen from one of the Royersford Companies acting as the few politicians.

We realize the people in Orchard terrace would have a problem, by being solicited for funds and also paying a one mill tax, but I'm sure a meeting with the Limerick township Companies, Royersford Companies and the road board, this problem would have been corrected.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

RALPH M., lay dying of an incurable malady.

He had always been fond of the children in the little village of Mellott, Ind., where our Scientific Marriage foundation has its home office.

His kindly words, plus candy and chewing gum, had made a hit with the kiddies.

And he was liberal with words of praise, which buoy up the soul of youngsters more than most adults ever dream of.

Sharon was in third grade. She had heard the town rumor that Ralph was critically ill. It disturbed her greatly, though he was not a relative or one of her kinfolk. But he had befriended her.

At school she finally put up her hand. When the teacher, Mabel Keeling, acknowledged it, Sharon stood up:

"Please, may we pray that he gets well?" Sharon pleaded.

Mrs. Keeling naturally acquiesced, so the children prayed for a few moments.

"DR. CRANE," the teacher later informed, me, "I have never had anything like this happen in my classroom before."

What greater tribute to anybody's good life here on this earth could be imagined than that children spontaneously will stop in their school work, and ask God to help that sick or ailing person?

Surely Ralph's memorial is carved in human hearts. No tombstone can ever do justice to the constructive influence he has wielded over the children of his town.

But thousands of other great benefactors of children are often forgotten, yet their generosity is still bearing rich dividends in every city.

FOR EXAMPLE, the YMCA offers constructive moral training and splendid recreational facilities for millions of youth.

But those boys and girls seldom know the names of the donors and yearly subscribers to the YMCA cause.

Maybe it would be a good idea if the YMCA secretaries would remind the youth that their fun in the swimming pools and gymnasiums, is due to selfless souls who have trod this way but left Earth possibly 50 years ago, yet whose protective arms are still reaching backward to befriend these teen-agers.

When we attend church or a private college, the same unselfish interest in future generations, still unborn, is demonstrated in every brick or stone of those religious and educational halls.

The best memorial anybody can erect either to himself or to his loved ones, now graduated from this earthly classroom in God's cosmic school system, is to help build the institutions that will continue to weave morality and spiritual idealism into each new crop of babies being born.

Inside Television

By EVE STARR

STARR REPORT: It was a very successful night for Emmy. Now 13, she still looks a little gawky in comparison with her 35 year old brother, Oscar, but she has the advantage of youth and a proven capacity for growth.

From the home viewer's standpoint, the 1961 Awards show was one of the smoothest-running Emmys in its history. The 90-minute telecast with all the technical difficulties, including a tricky East-West switching setup, was an artistic achievement.

Take-offs and spoofs of, and by, the industry provided merriment for both the viewer and some 1500 of the Academy of TV Arts and Sciences members, stars and press packed the Moulin Rouge where the TV sweepstakes was held.

Emmy did a good deal of growing and in an area where TV needs it the most, "Macbeth," a superb, TV-tailored film produced for "Hallmark Hall of Fame," won a total of five Emmys, and the man responsible for it all, Joyce Hall, president of Hallmark Cards, won a sixth in the form of a trustee award.

HALL DID not win his award solely on the strength of "Macbeth." He won it on the strength of ten years worth of enlightened sponsorship of TV's sole surviving live (most of the time) dramatic anthology show.

He won it because he has always had the foresight, the courage and the simple wisdom to hire good talent which was then given a free hand. His philosophy seems to have been one of, "I'll make the greeting cards, boys — you make the shows" a policy which has been an anathema to most other sponsors.

Ratings, glory be, have had nothing whatsoever to do with Hallmark's success and prestige. Over the years, the show has had successes and failures, high ratings and low ratings. The show is still on the air not because of high ratings but because the sponsor is pleased with the results and proud of the image it has created for his company.

THERE IS a lesson here for every sponsor, every ad agency, every network. It is a very simple lesson: You do not necessarily have to find another "Lucy" or another Western, or another private eye.

All you have to do, gentlemen, is hire good producers, writers and directors have faith in them and let them create. Give them freedom, not a long and confusing list of childish restrictions.

Joyce Hall has been doing this as a matter of course for ten years now and who is to challenge or even question the soundness of his principles?

A producer summed up the awards in a bitter manner. "I'm doing nothing next year but Shakespeare with Benny, Stanwyck and script by Rod Serling of the 'Twilight Zone.' How could it lose?"

President Kennedy is trying to soft pedal the aspect of the man-to-the-moon project as a direct part of the space race with the Soviet Union.

Accomplishment rather than competition was the President's theme Thursday.

Last month, however, the project was presented to several hundred columnists and editors from over the country, gathered in Washington, primarily and almost exclusively as a matter of prestige in the competition with Russia.

No matter how you slice it, it is a race and will be accepted as such by people everywhere, and victory or defeat will be clear cut.

The retirement under pressure of Rajeshwar Dayal as special representative of the United Nations on the Congo serves to pour some oil on the Congos there regardless of whether he got out voluntarily.

Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold achieved a master political stroke when he persuaded India to take an active role in the Congo with a considerable body of troops, and Dayal was part of the deal. A leftist intellectual, Dayal was accused of being neutral on the side of the Communists, just as Krishna Menon had been accused before him in other United Nations affairs. He became persona non grata to the Kasavubu faction which the West supports, and so was a stumbling block in Congolese relations with the United Nations. These relations became better when Dayal came back two months ago.

India, by the very force which she contributes and the presence of an Indian as second in command of all the forces, retains a powerful voice in the Congo, and an embarrassment has been removed regardless of whether Dayal deserved it.

ALL AROUND THE TOWN

Krause In Again! . . .

Off To Europe . . .

★ VAGABOND—That venerable Pottstown traveler's back in town again! Melvin B. Krause, 85 year Spanish American war veteran who's been logging mileage since he shipped out with Company M, Pennsylvania Volunteers in 1898, drove in this time from Apalocka, Fla. But he won't be here very long. He wanted to get to Ocean City after Memorial Day weekend to make sure he gets a full share of sunshine this summer. Steady eyed, sturdy, and untanned from his last excursion, Krause hardly looked his years. He wore out scores of cars since he's driving, ate up enough miles to go around the world several times, and says he'll be driving when he's 100 years old! He recently passed a driver's exam after allowing his permit to lapse—and the examiners found him 100 percent OK! . . .

AFTER HIS retirement as a Pottstown mail carrier at age 67, Krause made 10 trips to and from Florida. He drove to Denver, Colo., to visit his son, Clarence. He also drove to Canada several summers for vacations. It was on one of these treks he had his first serious motoring mishap. He was driving along an unpaved mountain road near Indiantown Gap. There was no trunk on his car, and the luggage was strapped to the back of the vehicle. As he turned a bend in the road, he hit a freshly tarred patch, and went into a spin. The combination of heavy rain, poorly balanced load, and slickness beneath almost caused Krause to drive over the side of the mountain! . . .

★ A FAR MORE harrowing experience happened in 1944, one year after Krause retired. He was motoring home from an extended tour of the West. As he drove into Haines City, Kansas, he noticed numerous red reflectors posted on both side of the highway. A few minutes later, he was flagged over by a policeman. Cars were lined up several hundred yards ahead, and word passed down the line heavy flooding washed out the bridge across the highway on the opposite side of town. Krause turned his car around to find another way around. He didn't find one. He returned to the town a few minutes later. The tragic scene that greeted him, he said, gave him cause for many fervent prayers of thanksgiving since then. The flood water, seconds after Krause left, roared up the highway toward the unsuspecting motorists, swept over them and receded. Within five minutes, eight men drowned at the wheels of their parked cars, and several others never were seen again.

SATURDAY SNICKER—The wife was pathologically jealous of her husband. Every evening when he got home from work, she subjected him to a minute examination. If she found a hair on his coat, as she often did, she made a terrible scene. To save himself from this invasive, he carefully brushed his coat before going home one night. His wife searched and searched but could find nothing. "So!" she screamed. "Now it's a bald-headed woman!"

Your Horoscope

The Stars Say—By ESTRELLITA

For Today

THIS DAY'S planetary influences are more auspicious for personal matters than for business affairs. Put forth your best efforts in all activities, however, and you can have a satisfactory day. Vibrations during the early part of the day encourage new friendships, outdoor activities.

For The Birthday

If today is your birthday, your horoscope indicates fine prospects where your personal life is concerned. The aspects favor harmonious domestic relationships, a stimulating social life and great romantic happiness. Whether the latter is concerned, next June, July and August will be your best months.

In financial affairs, you may experience some "ups and downs" but, if you take them in stride and keep plugging, you should wind up your year on the credit side of the ledger. This should not be too difficult, since practicality and the ability to "bounce back" after let-downs are among your many fine traits.

In job matters, put forth your best efforts and show a willingness to do more than your share, especially between now and late October. Generous rewards are indicated then; also in December.

August will be an excellent month for travel.

A child born on this day will be extremely gregarious and would do well in any position which deals with the public.

For Tomorrow

There may be some deceptive influences tomorrow both in business and personal matters. Use good judgement, therefore, and sidestep smooth talkers. Don't make rash promises, and do be careful with all assets.

For The Birthday

If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope indicates that you may have to work hard for success and make occasional revisions in your budget during the next year, but the rewards will be well worth the effort. Good opportunities for both job and financial gains are indicated during October and December, but these periods will be interspersed by somewhat "dull" cycles, so be realistic.

Plan ahead and not only conserve assets, but work out a consistent program for steady progress. Don't count on any "showy" results during the next 12 months.

Social affairs should prove interesting during August, September, December and January, but be careful not to cause dissension within the family circle in late November. Look for a chance to travel in August; for happy romantic situations in June, October and December.

A child born on this day will be capable of doing many things at a time, but may have a tendency to start numerous enterprises without finishing any of them.

United Fund Names 12 To Lead Fall Campaign

Twelve section chairmen were named Friday for the Fall United Fund drive by Jacob R. Sotter, professional division chairman, and Richard P. Stamm, business division chairman.

Named by Sotter were: The Hill school, Mrs. David Mercer; public schools, Stanley I. Davenport, Pottstown High school principal; financial, Henry A. Bell, Montgomery County Bank and Trust company; insurance and real estate, Attorney Gilbert R. Lewis; professional, Mrs. A. Pierce Saunders; and welfare, J. Lloyd Drake, assistant general secretary of the YMCA.

Named by Stamm were: automotive, Robert H. Nagle, Nagle Motors, Incorporated, and Sam H. Keiser, Keiser Chevrolet; building trade, Allen K. Davidheiser; clubs-organizations, Earl J. Case, public works director for the borough; government, Borough Manager Robert H. McKinney Jr.; and mercantile, Paul R. Emrich, manager of Sears, Roebuck company.

Sotter also announced a special committee headed by C. Gordon Astheimer, manager of Levensood Dairies, to solicit ministers, religious workers and funeral directors, and a committee headed by School Board President H. Bert Shaw to solicit service station personnel.

The annual fund campaign will begin Sept. 28 and run through October. Frederick L. Raker, general manager of the Mayer Pollock Steel company fabrication plant, is general campaign chairman.

Two of four youths arrested in connection with burglaries at two Douglass (Montgomery) service stations last March 19 were placed on probation for a year after pleading guilty in County court Friday.

Both Raymond Knauer and Robert Law, both East Norriton, had been in jail since their arrest on March 20. Because of this, they were released after being sentenced to serve from two months to a year.

The two, with two others, were charged with burglarizing Bayer's service station, where a portable television set and $10 were taken.

After learning that Berks county has filed detainers against both, and also that the defendants have been offered jobs, Judge Robert Honeyman agreed to the probationary period since both had served more than two months already.

Chief Linwood Johnson, of Douglass township, and State Trooper Metro Kardash investigated.

REVOLUTION WAR SOLDIERS TO BE HONORED

council and Brigadier White will give the benediction.

THE COMMEMORATIVE ceremony is being sponsored by Funston Camp, No. 81, USWV and Auxiliary 48 and assisting in the program will be World War I, II, and Korean Veterans.

The story behind Ellis Woods had its beginning in 1777, following the battle of Brandywine.

The soldiers of the Continental Army on their way to Valley Forge passed through the wooded section of Chester county now known as Ellis Woods.

Many of the men were wounded and diseased. Some became so weak they were left behind to be cared for by residents.

Some were sheltered in homes, barns, and sheds belonging to the farmers.

THE PRESENCE of the graves were unknown from the Revolutionary War period until the Civil War era. Then a patriot named John Ellis, occupying a farm in which the woods were contained, discovered the tombstones.

The story continues that there are other graves in the woods, but they are no longer identifiable.

Ellis used his farm as a rendezvous and underground station during the Civil War, sheltering many escaping slaves.

After finding the graves Ellis attended them as best he could for many years.

After the Civil War two girls, one Ellis daughter and the other his ward, gathered flowers and placed them on the graves in a simple ceremony once a year thus setting the precedent still being followed at the site.

A few years later the Grand Army of the Republic heard of the girls' act and marked each grave with a GAR flag holder.

IN 1920 the GAR, weakened by decreasing membership and the age of its members, allowed the United Spanish War Veterans of Pottstown to assist in the program, finally turning the work in its entirety over to the younger organization.

Then in 1922, fearing the woods might be destroyed when a sawmill was being placed in that area, the members of Funston Camp 81, United Spanish War Veterans of Pottstown, organized the Ellis Woods Memorial association.

Since that time the association has performed the annual Memorial duty at the graves.

REV. L. EUGENE MOYER

Rev. L. E. Moyer Will Speak at St. Matthew's

The Rev. L. Eugene Moyer, a native of Kimberton, will be the guest speaker at the Homecoming day tomorrow afternoon at 2:45 o'clock at St. Matthew's United Church of Christ, Route 401, Chester Springs.

The Rev. Moyer attended Westminster college, Princeton, N.J., and graduated from Franklin and Marshall college and Lancaster Theological seminary.

He has served a Reamstown charge, Lancaster county, for five years. He has been pastor of St. John's United Church of Christ, Schuylkill Haven, since 1956.

He is also president of Schuylkill Haven council of churches, chairman of community service committee and a member of the Rotary club.

The Rev. Moyer has served as president of the Schuylkill Haven Ministerial association and secretary of the Schuylkill Area UCC Ministerium.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd K. Moyer, Kimberton.

Alliance Pastor Attends General Council Meeting

The Rev. James A. Wagoner, pastor of the Christian and Missionary Alliance church, attended the six-day session of the 64th general council of the church.

Reports from the president of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, the Rev. Dr. Nathan Bailey, of New York City, stated that there were more than 12,000 conversions in the 1150 churches in the U.S. and Canada.

While adult baptisms on the fields amounted to 9005 who lived consistent Christian lives for a six month probationary period.

Plans are underway for a Diamond Jubilee to be conducted next year in Miami, Fla. The Alliance was organized by the Rev. Dr. A. B. Simpson, a Presbyterian minister, and associates from several other denominations in 1887.

The council took under advisement the founding of a graduate school of theology in the immediate future, and authorized the four existing Bible colleges to continue the pre-seminary courses now being offered to over 1200 students.

Children to Meet New Teachers On Promotion Day

Promotion day will be conducted for all members of the Christ Episcopal Sunday school tomorrow morning at 9:15 o'clock.

The service will begin with the celebration of the Holy Eucharist, by the Rev. George A. Lineker, rector.

Following the communion service the Rev. Peter A. Greenfield, assistant rector, who is in charge of the youth program, will offer prayers of thanksgiving for the teachers at the altar.

Each child to be promoted will go to the chancel to meet his new teacher.

Each class will then proceed to its new classroom to study its course of instruction prepared by the Rev. Greenfield.

About 300 children and teenagers will be promoted.

PROFESSOR WILL ASSIST AT SERVICES

Classmate of Pastor To Sing Liturgy At Grace

24 WILL RECEIVE FIRST COMMUNION

The Rev. Robert E. Bornemann, professor of Old Testament and advanced Hebrew at the Lutheran Theological seminary at Mount Airy, Philadelphia, will assist the Rev. Richard G. Hoffert, pastor of Grace Lutheran church, 660 North street, tomorrow at the 8 and 10:45 a. m. celebrations of the sacrament of the altar.

The Rev. Bornemann, director of the seminary choir, will sing the portions of the second setting of the new liturgy of the Lutheran church in America, adopted in 1958.

While at seminary with the Rev. Hoffert, the Rev. Bornemann was organist and student director of the choir.

He is a graduate of Wittenberg university, Springfield, Ohio, and Mount Airy seminary.

Upon graduation from the seminary, he was retained as a teaching fellow in New Testament and Greek. Later he became the pastor of the Evangelical Lutheran church of the Attonement, Asbury Park, N.J.

FROM THERE, the Rev. Bornemann was called as assistant professor of Old Testament and advanced Hebrew at Mount Airy seminary, eight years ago when the Rev. Dr. Charles M. Cooper became president of the Evangelical Lutheran Ministerium of Pennsylvania and the adjacent states.

The Rev. Cooper, the past week conducted his final synodical convention at Buck Hill Falls before becoming president of the Lutheran Theological seminary at Berkeley, Calif.

The Rev. Bornemann is presently pursuing doctoral studies at Dropsie college for Hebrew and cognate learning. He and the Rev. Hoffert, seminary classmates, are celebrating their 15th anniversary of graduation from the seminary and their 15th anniversary of ordination into the Gospel ministry, the Rev. Bornemann by the Synod of Ohio, and Pastor Hoffert by the Ministerium of Pennsylvania.

The 24 catechumens who received the rite of confirmation the past Sunday, will receive their first communion at the 10:45 a. m. service. The Rev. Hoffert will preach on the subject "God the Father, Son and Holy Spirit." The sacrament of the altar will also be celebrated at 7:45 p. m.

Lutherans See Church Nearer To Merger

Pottstown Lutheran ministers feel that the United Lutheran church of America is closer to a merger since the recent annual convention at Buck Hill Falls.

The Rev. Dr. Lutheran A. Krouse, pastor of Emmanuel church, who has attended more than 37 conventions, agreed that the convention was outstanding and one of the best he ever attended.

Of the same opinion was the Rev. Richard G. Hoffert, pastor of Grace church.

The Rev. Hoffert and the Rev. Krouse both stated that the election drew intense interest on the convention.

And the appearance of the Rev. Dr. Franklin Clark Fry, president of the ULC of America, also helped the morale of the convention.

The highlights of the convention were, a speech by the Rev. Dr. Charles Muhlenberg Cooper, retiring president of the Lutheran Ministerium of Pennsylvania; the motion by Dr. Ernst Schmidt of Philadelphia, who proposed that Charles Riggs, a member of the Billy Graham crusade speak.

Also, the election of a new president the Rev. Samuel E. Kidd, Norristown, and a lecture by the Rev. Dr. O. Frederick, director of the commission on international affairs.

CONFIRMANDS—Pictured is the class of 14 pupils which was confirmed by the Rev. Lawrence R. Tropp, during confirmation services at Spangville Christ Evangelical Lutheran church.

Second row, Melvin Klingaman, David Schaeffer, Charles Dilliplane, Charles Haas, Robert Souders.

Third row, Carl Greenly, Franklin Sterner, David Stapleton, Dennis Howard and the Rev. Tropp.

Congregation Will Learn Meaning of Trinity Sunday

The significance of Trinity Sunday will be explained to parishioners in most Pottstown area churches tomorrow, at the regular worship services.

The day, which is one of the few festivals of the church that honors teachings rather than events, is celebrated after Whitsunday, which was observed the past week with holy communion and the rites of confirmation.

According to Webster, Trinity refers to God, and expresses the Christian belief that God is One. Even though there are Three Persons in the Godhead — the Father, the Son and the Holy Ghost — God is one.

In the year 1334, Trinity Sunday was established as a church festival by Pope John XXII.

ONCE A YEAR a Catholic is required to make his Easter duty. He must receive the holy eucharist once between the periods of the first week in Lent and Trinity Sunday.

Tomorrow marks the final day for Catholics to fulfill their Easter duty.

Baptists, according to the declaration of faith of the true God, believe that there is one, and only one, living and true God: "an infinite, intelligent Spirit, whose name is Jehovah, the Maker and Supreme Ruler of heaven and earth; inexpressible glorious in holiness, and worthy of all possible honor, confidence, and love; that in the unity of the Godhead there are three persons, the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost; equal in every divine perfection, and executing distinct but harmonious offices in the great work of redemption."

Children which received the rites of confirmation the past Sunday will be given their first Holy Communion at services tomorrow.

SOME OF the churches participating in the observance of this day are as follows: Transfiguration Lutheran church, with communion services at 8 and 10:15 a. m.; Grace Lutheran church with sermon by the Rev. Richard G. Hoffert, pastor, on "God the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit." He will be assisted by the Rev. Robert Bornemann.

Also, St. John's Lutheran church, South Pottstown, with sermon by the Rev. William L. Shaud, pastor. The sacrament of the altar will be given at 7:30 and 10:30 a. m., with the reception of confirmands at 10:30 a. m.

St. Peter's Lutheran church, Stowe, with sermon by the Rev. Victor A. Kroninger Jr., pastor. Communion services will be at 7:30 and 10:15 a. m.

In the First United Presbyterian church, during the 9:30 and 11 a. m. worship service, 11 confirmands who received baptismal vows the past week will listen to a sermon by the Rev. William A. Guenther, pastor, on "The Right Hand of Fellowship."

When the last EXAM OVER

Nothing quite compares with the exhilaration of that final day at high school.

The drudgery of note-taking, the monotony of assignments and recitation, the tedium of term papers, the nights of cramming, the toiling tension of exam week... it's all behind them.

And ahead... graduation... the promise... college... a job.

But as an earnest parent, pause to take stock of your son's spiritual maturity. Has the soul's growth kept pace with the mind's?

The firmness of the bond between the Home and the Church holds the answer. Strengthen that bond every Sunday. In a world that constantly tests the faith of men... the last exam is not over.

Baptist Editor Calls On Congress To Vary Selection of Chaplains

WASHINGTON (AP)—When it comes to the chaplaincy of the U.S. Senate and House of Representatives, the Methodists seem to have stolen the show.

This doesn't seem quite fair to Baptist editor James O. Duncan, who rounded up the figures on the matter.

He says other denominations should get a more even break in filling "the high and honored position."

Chaplains serve in both House and Senate, opening each day's business with a prayer. Back in old days, before 1861, there also were Sunday sermons in the legislative chambers. But that practice has long been dropped.

What aroused Duncan, editor of the Capital Baptist, of Washington order to get another chaplain, D.C., is that Methodists have served a total of 124 years in congressional chaplaincies, more than half as much as the 213 years served by all other groups put together.

Next in order, Presbyterians have had 76 years in such office, Episcopalians 53, Baptists 30, Unitarians 26, Unitarians 15, Lutherans 7, Christian Church 4.

Roman Catholics have had only one chaplain, and he served for only one year, more than 129 years ago. Lutherans also have had only one, back in 1896, but he stayed on for seven years.

"A look at the record certainly reveals that Methodists and Presbyterians most frequently called upon to supply chaplains for the Senate and the House," Duncan said in an editorial. "Many other religious groups are conspicuous by their absence."

Out of a total of 108 chaplains who have served, 36 have been Methodists, 28 Presbyterians, 19 Episcopalians, 14 Baptists, 4 Unitarians, 3 Congregationalists, 1 Disciple, 1 Universalist, 1 Lutheran, 1 Roman Catholic.

Baptists haven't had a chaplain in the House since 1843, Duncan said, adding: "Many of the smaller denominations have never had the honor of having one of their group serve in either the Senate or the House as chaplain. There also seems to be inequity in number of years served by individual chaplains."

Many have served only one year. Others serve for many years.

For instance, the Rev. James Shera Montgomery, a Methodist, served 29 years in the House, followed by the Rev. Henry N. Couden, a Universalist, who served 26 years.

Thus, for 55 years, from 1895 until 1950, only two chaplains served the House.

One of the problems, Duncan says, is that some chaplains just don't step aside when they should. "It becomes an embarrassing thing, then, for Congress to have to ask a man to step aside in order to get another chaplain," Duncan adds.

As a solution, and to guarantee more equity in the selection of chaplains, he suggested Congress establish procedures of naming chaplains for a limited period of two or four years. He also suggested that each new chaplain should come from a different denomination than his predecessor, and those chaplains serving currently in the House and Senate should be selected from different denominations.

God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble. — (Psalm 46:1)

There are times when even the most aggressive, forceful, self-assured among us must know, in their secret hearts, that their human strength is not enough—that God alone can help them in their trouble. Those who humbly, truly, live within Him "will not fear, though the earth be removed."

Solomon Exhorts Son To Avoid Evil Friends

Failure To Control Self Leads To Tragic Consequences

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL.

THE IMPORTANCE of this lesson on self-control is pointed out by the statistics showing the shocking increase in America lately of major crimes, juvenile delinquency, lawlessness, dope addiction and alcoholism.

A magnificent example of self-control is found in the experience of Isaac and his wells (Genesis 26:12-32). When the envy of the Philistines for Isaac's business success drove them to plug up his wells with dirt, making it impossible for his herds to survive here, he did not storm in anger as most men would have done. When Abimelech, king of the Philistines, asked him to move away, he did so quietly.

Four times his wells had to be re-dug before the situation was resolved. In the end, Isaac's self-control not only avoided warfare; it also brought Abimelech to him as a friend.

In his Proverbs (2) Solomon exhorts his son to "stay on the straight and narrow," as we would say, avoiding evil companions and seeking always understanding. Wilbur M. Smith makes the point (in "Peloubet's Select Notes") that it is not necessary to know evil in order to live righteously.

The "strange woman, even the stranger" refers, apparently, to either the literal or spiritual adulteress. "Her house inclineth unto death" (Proverbs 2:18)—the killing of the God-like spirit in man.

The phrase, "Keep My commandments and live" (Proverbs 7:2) can mean not only eternal life but the very vigorous, righteous, "alive" feeling one has when he knows he is doing his best to live by God's word.

Other specific examples of self-control are listed. One should try to be slow to anger (Proverbs 16:32), to avoid envy (Proverbs 14:30), to restrain his tongue (Proverbs 17:27) and to be very cautious in the use of alcohol (Proverbs 20:1; 23:19-21, 29-35).

Six evil results of intoxication are enumerated in the Proverbs cited—deceitfulness, (20:1), poverty (23:19-21), quarreling (23:29-30), derangement (23:33-35), the other moral sins which so often accompany intoxication (23:31-33), and the fact that the use of alcohol so often leads to helpless addiction. "They have beaten me, and I felt it not; When shall I awake? I will seek it yet again." (23:35)

In this day and age one more profoundly evil result of liquor has been added to Solomon's list—the carnage on our highways. The crime of murder is thus all too often the concomitant of drink.

Dr. Smith cites the striking decrease in all crimes in Kingsport, Tenn., after the outlawing of beer recently. In New Jersey, our heaviest-drinking state, "it indicated," according to Governor Meyner, "that an alcohol factor is present in from 30 to 50 per cent of (traffic) fatalities."

By keeping God's commandments, as Solomon tells his son, by applying our hearts to understanding, by "crying after knowledge," then shall we "understand the fear of the Lord, and find the knowledge of God." "When wisdom entereth into thine heart, and knowledge is pleasant unto thy soul, Discretion shall preserve thee, understanding shall keep thee." (Proverbs 2:1-11).

The Virtue of Self-Discipline ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Genesis 26:12-32; Proverbs 2:1-5; 14:29-30; 16:32; 17:27; 20:1; 23:19-21, 29-35.

By Alfred J. Buescher

Isaac, living in the land of the Philistines, had become wealthy. The envious Philistines filled his wells with dirt and Abimelech, Philistine king, banished him. Four times did Isaac patiently move and re-dig his wells.—Genesis 26:12-21.

Finally Isaac found a spot where a profitable well could be dug without being contested. There he built an altar, thanked the Lord and pitched his tent. Abimelech, seeing God was with Isaac, came with two aides to renew his friendship.—Gen. 26:22-32.

Solomon also illustrated the virtues of self-discipline. He admonished his son to stick to the "paths of righteousness," eschewing those "whose ways are crooked . . . the strange woman . . . which forgetteth the covenant of her God."—Proverbs 2:13-17.

"Guide thine heart," advised Solomon. "Be not among winebibbers . . . for the drunkard and the glutton shall come to poverty; and drowsiness shall clothe a man with rags."—Proverbs 23:19-21.

WHAT WOMEN ARE DOING

Sunshine Would Brighten Prospects Of Rose Society's 10th Annual Show

Local and area rosarians will appear this week with fingers crossed anxiously hoping for sunshine in anticipation of the Pottstown Rose society's tenth annual rose show.

The event is set for Saturday, June 3, at North Coventry Elementary school. Entries will be accepted from 6:30 to 10:30 a. m. Roses will be on display for the public from 2 to 9 p. m. Awards will be given at 6 p. m. According to publicity committee member, Victor Ayres, if the sun appears steadily during this coming week, there will be a profusion of roses.

Buds in areas outside the town are about at the peak showing color. Some local residents have been fortunate enough to encourage blooms in spite of the previous cool, rainy season.

"The rain has been an aid in producing beautiful foliage," Mr. Ayres pointed out, "and that's a big factor in judging roses."

Thus if all prayers are answered Rose society members are confident that this year's event will top that of last year which drew 3000 spectators, 1331 exhibition roses and 51 arrangements.

Classes are so numerous that anyone whose yard contains a rose bush can enter the show.

They are as follows: challenge class A, four different exhibition hybrid teas; arranged in separate vials; challenge class B, three floribunda or polyantha (stems) of different varieties in separate vials.

Also, section A, class 1, one bloom, Blanche Mallerin; class 2, one bloom, Lowell Thomas; class 3, one bloom Grandmere Jenny; class four, one bloom Lady Elgin; class 5, one bloom Sutter's Gold; class 7, one bloom Pink Favorite.

And, class 8, one bloom Show Girl; class 9, one bloom Angel Wings; class 10, one bloom Confidence; class 11, one bloom Helen Traubel; class 12, one bloom Kordes Perfecta; class 13, one bloom Tiffany; class 14, one bloom Charlotte Armstrong.

Also, class 15, one bloom Chrysler Imperial; class 16, one bloom Crimson Glory.

Section B, hybrid teas, class 17, one bloom white or near white; class 18, one bloom yellow; class 19, one bloom yellow blend, a picot blend, orange pink; class 20, one bloom light pink; class 21, one bloom medium pink; class 22, one bloom pink blend.

Class 23, one bloom light red and deep pink; class 24, one bloom medium red; class 25, one bloom dark red; class 26, one bloom red blend; class 27, one bloom mauve; class 28, one bloom russet.

Section C, hybrid teas, one exhibition bloom, class 29, any color but not two of the named variety. Buds are specimens less than one third open.

Section D, hybrid teas, class 30, one open bloom white or near white; class 31, one open bloom yellow; class 32, one open bloom blend; class 33, one open bloom pink; class 34, one open bloom red; class 35, one open bloom mauve; class 36, one open bloom russet; class 37, one open bloom Peace.

Section E, hybrid teas, three exhibition blooms, one variety, class 38, white or near white; class 39, yellow; class 40, blend; class 41, pink; class 42, red; class 43, mauve; class 44, russet; class 45, Peace.

Section F, hybrid teas, cycle of bloom, three roses of one variety, class 46, any color but not more than one group of the same named variety.

Section G, single hybrid teas, one bloom or one stem naturally grown, class 47, any color.

Section H, grandiflora, one exhibition bloom naturally grown, class 48, any variety.

Grandiflora one stem naturally grown with side bud or buds, class 49, Queen Elizabeth; class 50, Carroussel; class 51, Montezuma; class 52, Starfire; class 53, other varieties.

Section J, floribunda one stem naturally grown, class 54, Circus; class 55, Little Darling; class 56, Fashion; class 57, Fire King; class 58, Floradora; class 59, Spartan; class 60, Marquede; class 61, white or near white; class 62, yellow.

Class 63, blends; class 64, pink; class 65, red; class 66, Mauve; class 67, russet.

Section K, novice class, open to entrants over 14 years of age who have not previously won a ribbon or an award in any rose show. Class 68, any type rose, one bloom, one stem or one spray.

Section L, climbing roses other than hybrid teas, class 69, one stem naturally grown; class 70, three stems, 1, 2 or 3 varieties.

Section M, miniature roses, one bloom or stem, class 71, white; class 72, yellow; class 73, pink; class 74, red; class 75, blends; class 76, collection of three, 1, 2 or 3 varieties.

Section N, miscellaneous roses not previously covered. Class 77, any variety.

Section O, Junior class, open to entrants 14 years of age or under. Class 78, one exhibition hybrid tea bloom white or near white; class 79, one exhibition hybrid tea bloom yellow; class 80, one exhibition hybrid tea bloom blend.

ATTRACTIVE ILLUSTRATIONS—Mrs. Albert Istenes, left, and Mrs. Willard Haring look over arrangements just completed as illustrations of those which are expected to appear at the 10th annual rose show Saturday, June 3, at North Coventry Elementary school. Mrs. Haring is chairman of the arrangement committee for the event which is sponsored by the Pottstown Rose society. Mrs. Istenes is a member of her committee. The basket of roses could vie in class 96 of the arrangements called "Ladies Choice," an arrangement of roses to the exhibitor's liking. The centerpiece might be done in class 98, invitation class for women's organizations and garden clubs. The goblet of roses might be among "Little Triumphs," an arrangement of roses using stemware as a container and found in arrangement classes for children. The two illustrators pointed out that the arrangements they made are simply to give an idea of the many exhibits found at the annual show. Their arrangements were done with artificial roses, none of which ever appear at the show.

President of LaSalle College to Speak At St. Pius Scholastic Awards Banquet

Brother Daniel Bernian, FSC, president of LaSalle college, will be guest speaker at the St. Pius X Mothers association annual scholastic awards banquet on June 8 at Maria Assunta at 6:30 p.m.

A native of Baltimore, Md., he received his early training in the city and later attended St. John's college in Washington, D.C. It was here that he first met the Christian Brothers. Under their influence, he entered the novitiate of the Christian Brothers at Ammen-dale, Md., where he took his first vows.

He received his bachelor of arts degree majoring in liberal arts from Catholic university in Washington in 1938. He received his master of arts degree majoring in French and Spanish from the University of Pennsylvania in 1943.

In 1952, he received his doctorate from Laval university, Quebec, Canada. He spent a year of study in Rome, Italy and later did post graduate work at the University of Denver, Colo. He received an L.D. from Villanova university in 1959.

He began his teaching career at West Catholic high school in Philadelphia. He has taught religion and languages and served as a coach for athletics, dramatics and language clubs.

Brother Bernian was an exchange teacher and taught in Quebec, Canada. He was later transferred to LaSalle College high school where he taught languages and coached athletics.

He was associated with Catholic university where he taught religion and languages to the young Christian Brothers studying for their bachelor degrees.

In 1951, he was transferred to LaSalle college where he became assistant professor of French. After his stay in Rome he taught in Spain before returning to LaSalle college as assistant professor.

In 1953, he became the first director of housing at the new dormitories at LaSalle. Shortly afterwards, he was named Dean of Men and following held the title of Dean of Students, the administrator of student personnel program.

He was named president of the college in 1958 and of the board of managers of the LaSalle College corporation. He served as director of the College Community of Christian Brothers.

Brother Bernian is a world traveler and has memberships with the Advisory Council of Naval affairs, American Catholic Historical society, L'Academie Francaise des Etats-Unis, American Personnel and Guidance association, Pi Delta Phi and Alpha Phi Omega.

His hobbies are reading, music and sports. On September 1959, he celebrated his 25th anniversary as a Brother of the Christian schools.

Pottsgrove PTA Officers Installed By Mrs. R. Meloy

Officers of the Lower Pottsgrove Elementary Parent-Teacher association were installed at the group's final meeting of the season Thursday night in the school.

Mrs. Robert E. Meloy, a past president of the Lower Pottsgrove PTA and active member in that group for a number of years, performed the installation service.

After congratulating the officers, she presented each with a red carnation. Officers are: Mrs. Joseph Fritsch, president; Mrs. Elmer E. Saylor, first vice president; Mrs. Frank Szakal, second vice president; Mrs. John Wanger, secretary and Mrs. John Bauer, treasurer.

Retiring President Mrs. Ronald Neiman conducted the session in the school cafeteria. Devotions were led by Mrs. Kenneth Buchert. Earl Strausser was accompanist for group singing.

Mrs. Joseph Fritsch gave the ways and means report for the year and thanked members for their help and co-operation. A thank you was extended by Mrs. William Fagley, merchandise co-chairman.

As chairman of the Pottsgrove Elementary Band Boosters club, Mrs. Saylor, reported on the final meeting of the group and announced that progress was made toward the financial goal for the purchase of new uniforms for the elementary band.

Mrs. Saylor also announced that plans are in motion for an active party in the Fall.

Speaker for the evening, Dr. Milton G. Geil, was introduced by Mrs. William Van Buskirk, program co-chairman. Dr. Geil heads the psychology department at Albright college, Reading.

Dr. Geil told the PTA that no one really knows what intelligence is. It is believed that it is the ability to learn things. He pointed out that today it is believed that animals from the earth worm on up have some intelligence.

The speaker added that before 1905, no attempt was made to measure intelligence. Binet in France developed the first IQ test which he built around three points, judgment, adaptation and ability to discriminate.

In 1916 Terman developed the classification of numbers not realizing that his theory would be used in today's tests.

Dr. Geil stated that the number rating in the IQ tests is as far as it can go and that it is not doing the job as was originally intended—to divide the children in groups according to their ability to learn.

Before closing, the speaker added that a youngster can not be given an accurate tests before the age of six years.

PROTECT FROM HEAT

Cheese needs low temperatures when used in cooked dishes, or it may become stringy. When cheese is used in a casserole dish the foods used with it help protect it from the heat.

Scout Roundup

TROOP 198

Vice president of Brownback's Senior Girl Scout troop 198, Margaret Eppheimer, conducted the regular meeting of the troop in Brownback's United Church of Christ, Spring City RD 1.

The girls discussed a future service project for June when they will go to the Arboretum Garden of the Blind at West Grove to assist blind persons with weeding gardens.

In the afternoon they will return to the home of assistant leader, Mrs. Paul Gingrich, Spring City RD 1 where they will have a picnic and swimming party along with a court of awards to conclude the current season.

A discussion followed concerning requirements toward the five point pin for which several girls are working. A plan to visit the United Nations building next year was discussed along with the possibility of attending the 1962 National Girl Scout round-up.

A limited number of girls from the county council will be eligible to attend the round-up, scheduled for Button Bay State park in Vermont. Applications must be filed by June 15. Several members of the troop are interested in attending.

Leader Mrs. E. D. Crew reviewed for the girls the set-up of the girl scouting movement.

one of the requirements for the five point pin during the meeting. Mrs. Crew announced that the troop has been invited to take part in an annual Memorial Day parade at St. Andrew's Episcopal church, Ludwig's Corner.

Attending the meeting were Mrs. Gingrich and Mrs. Crew; Lynne Gingrich, Nancy Emery, Margaret Eppheimer, Susan Headley, Christine Madden, Lola and Mary Lib Brower.

4 New Members Are Initiated by Rebekah Lodge

Four new members were initiated and two were admitted by transfer at a meeting of the Lady Wittenmeyer Rebekah Lodge in the Odd Fellows hall.

Initiated were Linda Snyder, Mildred Hall, Sarah Shanahan and Fred Shanahan. Edith Long, formerly of Roulette, and Hattie Jennings, of Littlefield, Tex., transferred memberships.

The initiation was under the direction of Hazel West, degree mistress. Alice Swartwood served as noble grand in the absence of Arlene Almond who left Tuesday for an indefinite stay in Arizona.

Sixty-one attended from Norristown, Paoli and Pottstown. Special guests were Grace Atkinson, past district president of Montgomery county and Harriet Reynolds, past district president of Chester county.

Pigs in a box were won by Ruth Hitting, Margaret Spaid, Mary Hill and Ruth Britton. Hostesses were Peggy Norris, Alice Swartwood and Hattie Jennings.

Women's Activities

Variety of Hats Modeled by Milliner At Woman's Club Annual Luncheon

Hand made hats of all shapes and colors were modeled by Mrs. Mazie Hill, Abington, at the annual luncheon of the Perkiomen Valley Woman's club at the Indian Valley country club.

Mrs. Hill teaches hat making to adult classes attending night school as well as in her shop in Abington. She described which hat to wear with the various face shapes. Complete instruction for making the popular "bird cage" and "whimsies" were given to the group.

Mrs. Frank Baker and Mrs. Michael Hillegass entertained the group with a piano duet.

Mrs. Robert Hand, club president, gave a brief report on the General Federation of Women's club convention she and Mrs. Frederick Justin attended in Harrisburg.

Mrs. Charles Cook, program chairman, was assisted by Mrs. Earl Gebert and Mrs. Walter Whitman with the arrangements for the program and decorating the tables with Spring flowers. Mrs. Harold Norman and Mrs. Arthur deAngelis assisted the chairman in making favors which were pencils made to resemble dolls wearing different types of hats. Mrs. Foster Hillegass and Mrs. Warren Wetzel set the stage for Mrs. Hill's program with hats of ancient vintage.

-Chit Chat-

MRS. FRANCES McALLER, Yuicapa, Calif., is staying with her niece, Mrs. Paul Casnor, Parker Ford, and visiting friends and relatives in the area.

Mrs. McAller is the former Frances Jones of Douglassville.

Visit by Boyertown Boy Scouts Features Colebrookdale Pack Night

A combined pack night and troop meeting of Cub and Boy Scout troops 223 of Colebrookdale was conducted in the Douglass Township Berks Elementary school.

A special feature of the evening's activities was the appearance of six Boy Scouts of Boyertown troop 3 who gave a candlelight ceremony explaining the 12 points of scouting. The Scouts were: Michael Breslin, Donald Hoffman, John Lessel, James Rohrbach, Robert Trendler and Lee Heffner.

Frederick Endy, scoutmaster of the newly formed Boy Scout troop, presented tenderfoot pins to the following: Richard Wadsworth, Eric Gerhart, Robert Norris, Frederick Endy, David Endy, Harry Bierback and Robert Mauger.

Among the guests was William Duncan, area commissioner, who presented the Boy Scout charter to Mrs. Leon Savely, president of the Douglass Township Berks Elementary PTA, which sponsors the troop.

THE PROGRAM also included a talk on scouting by Justin Dibaonventura, Daniel Boone council executive.

The Cub Scout portion of the program featured an Indian dance around a campfire by all the Cubs. The boys used Indian tom-toms which they made during the month, which followed an "Indian Lore" theme. Pianist for the dance was Gregory Gresh with Michael Hoffman featured on the drums. Indian chief for the ceremony was Ralph Hoffman, cubmaster.

Cubmaster Hoffman presented a bobcat pin to John Houck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Houck, and also gave awards to the following scouts: James Butt, bear badge and gold arrow;

Inside You And Yours

By BURTON H. FERN, M.D.

The Mushroom Crowd

ATTENTION, all citizens! Be on the lookout for the mushroom crowd, alias toadstools!

Approach with caution; these mushrooms are dangerous.

Description follows — A. Phalloides, alias "The Death Cup". Height about 3 inches.

Dr. Fern

White to brownish complexion, with umbrella-shaped head. Underside of head covered with hundreds of white umbrellalike ribs. White seed-like spores hang from each foot of stalk, surrounded by whitish poison cup. Likes to frequent shady wooded areas.

A. Muscaria, alias "The Fly". Height about 3 inches, with red to yellow complexion.

Bald top covered with thick dandruff. Spores — white. Sealy stalk with bulb-shaped cup around foot. Likes to frequent roadside greenery and shady wooded areas.

Make Sure

Keep young button-shaped mushrooms under surveillance for one week or until large enough for positive identification.

Both mushrooms are wanted for murder. "The Fly" poisons its victim within minutes, paralyzing vital heart muscle. Victim doubles up with severe abdominal cramps and breathes heavily. Eyes tear, mouth waters and skin sweats.

"The Death Cup" strikes more slowly — often waiting up to six or ten hours. Uses rattlesnake-like poison which eats through blood vessels. Abdominal cramps complicated by blood and mucus. After a few days, poisoned liver causes jaundice and damaged kidneys shut down.

First-Aid Treatment

Empty victim's stomach at once — push finger down throat, if necessary. Give epsom salts or similar cathartic to purge poison down intestine.

Transport victim to nearest hospital, along with any remaining mushroom killers. The doctor will want to make identification before starting treatment.

Relay following message to all:

(1) Pick mushrooms at local supermarket only, unless competent expert makes field identification.

Don't Eat These

(2) Do not eat innocent mushrooms that show decay, milky fluid or areas eaten by insects.

Corrections to previous information:

(1) Poisonous mushrooms cannot be identified by tarnishing effect on silverware.

(2) Brightly-colored mushrooms can be innocent.

Relay on official descriptions only. Request everyone prevent poison problem from mushrooming this summer.

It's Nice to Remember Loved Ones With An "In Memoriam"

On Tuesday, May 30

On Memorial Day, The Mercury will again present a special Memoriam page feature giving Mercury readers the opportunity of paying tribute to their departed loved ones.

Memorial Day is the ideal day to honor deceased members of our respective families because of the great local interest that exists every May 30th in this area. Last year more individuals and organizations carried "In Memoriams" than ever before.

Sample Listings—

SPOOR—In loving memory of our mother and father, Jennie and Isaac H. Spoor. Remembrance keeps them near. Daughters LILLIE and ANNA

Cost: 5 Lines, $1.00

BROWN, Harriet Marie — In loving memory of our dear daughter and granddaughter who passed away July, 1939. Today and everyday brings memories. Of one we loved so dear. Mother and Grandmother

Cost: 7 Lines, $1.40

Booklets with sample verses are available at The Mercury office at no cost. In Memoriam rate still only 20¢ per line.

BOY CRITICAL AFTER BEING HIT BY CAR

breath.

The preview:

Randall Uffler, 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Uffler, 420 Fourth street, East Greenville, on the critical list at Allentown hospital, with head injuries. He may also have internal injuries and a fractured left hip.

The boy was returning from St. Philip Neri school at 3 p. m. when, according to witnesses, he darted across Route 29 in East Greenville, into the path of a car driven by Dorothy Schnabel, Alburts RD 1.

Investigating Pennsburg Police Chief William W. Kline said the driver passed the school almost daily for the last ten years, always slowed down, but this time did not even have an opportunity to apply her brakes.

The boy was taken to the hospital in an Upper Perkiomen Valley ambulance. Assisting Chief Kline were East Greenville Chief Victor Moyer and Red Hill Chief Henry Erb.

Arthur R. Brown, 67, of Chester Springs RD 1, was in satisfactory condition at Memorial hospital, suffering chest injuries. He may have broken ribs.

Brown's car and another auto driven by Francis W. Guido, Reading, collided at Laurelwood road and route 183 in North Coventry township at 4:45 p. m.

Brown was taken to Memorial hospital in a Goodwill ambulance.

Hospitals Ready For Emergencies During Holiday

The Memorial Day holiday, with a tradition written in bloody highway tragedy as well as on the memorials to war dead, throws no bolt of fear into local hospitals.

While constantly alert to emergencies, Memorial and Pottstown hospitals will actually be operating with less than the normal personnel over the long holiday.

Approximately one third of the nursing staff at each hospital will be released for brief "vacations." Dispensaries will be manned, however, and resident physicians ready in case of accidents.

As many patients as possible are encouraged to go home, according to their conditions. In addition, many wish to get released with a holiday looming.

SINCE WEEKEND holidays come seldom, efforts are made to allow nurses to spend some time with their families.

Should a serious accident flood the emergency ward of either hospital, nurses are taken from other duties to assist. The resident physician is available, and other doctors can be reached quickly, if they are not in the hospital already.

The systems at each of the local hospitals is similar. The nurses divide three holidays — Memorial Day, Independence Day and Labor Day, at Memorial hospital, for example.

Nurses' aides and other personnel, likewise, "take turns" getting a break from their chores.

CHIEF KLINE, recalling the frantic afternoon in the Upper Perkiomen valley, recounted, "This is a bad way to start. It's got me worried. I sure hope we've had our quota, but you never know."

Pottstown police found drivers in the borough generally cautious. Larry Zepp, 545 East Vine street, Stowe, told Motor Patrolman Barry Rohrbach that he glanced at a parking car on King street near Penn street at 4:30 p. m., and was unable to avoid hitting the car ahead of him in the rear.

The Zepp car struck an auto driven by James Gosnell, of The Hill school, pushing the Gosnell car into the back of a sedan driven by Donald M. Terwilliger, 326 Beech street. There were no injuries.

Of the seven killed in this area a year ago, five died in a violent crash on Township Line road in Limerick. Two more were killed in Exeter township when a car went out of control off Route 422 and struck them as they stood in a parking lot.

There were only four accidents — with five injured, none seriously — in 1959 during a three-day holiday. The previous year the area was practically free.

RECORD IS SET

Cargo tonnage passing through the Panama Canal set a new record during 1960: 59,258,219 tons. The number of ships using the canal, 10,795, also was a new record.

French Parachutist Warns of Folly

this before. He once said that nationalism is so much of a good guy in the world today that when you fight against it at all, you're a bad guy. No matter what is involved."

"Exactly," her husband said.

Whether or not General De Gaulle's plan for Algerian autonomy will be a real benefit for the people of Algeria is unknown, Floquet stipulated. "You always have to ask if the solution you have is the best or if there could be a better way."

A LONG RANGE solution might have started too late, Floquet explained. Approximately six years ago, France started training officers to go into the fields and the schools, teach the people of Algeria and help them improve their means of earning a living.

It's something like the Peace Corps idea in the United States," he suggested. "It's the best thing that France could do for those people, but I'm afraid it came too late."

If Floquet speaks knowingly about the Algerian problem it is due in part to the fact that he was greatly discussed while he gained a liberal arts education in France and at the Swiss Holiday school for Americans in Switzerland where he worked and met Mrs. Floquet. She was teaching at the school.

In January, 1959, he began his 28 month tour of army duty and after six months study in the French equivalent of the United States officer candidate schools, volunteered for the paratroop corps.

HE SERVED 10 months with a transportation unit in the Black Forest of Germany in a position of overseeing the loading and dropping of large equipment from cargo planes and teaching this to recruits.

The assignment to Algeria brought him the job of training less experienced paratroopers.

But it wasn't the job of training others that made those two years interesting for the young officer. It was the experience of going out of a plane time and time again on a life line of silk.

"The first jumps, of course, were the most exciting," he said. "No one is relaxed, but I was curious and I was anxious to see what it was like."

"After a few jumps you don't really care whether or not you are ordered to jump or not. You are there and if they tell you that you're not going out that day you think, 'That's fine with me, I'm not going to beg for it.' After all, going out of an airplane isn't the most normal thing for someone to do."

"But after 15 or 20 jumps I began to like it and to ask for it. Sometimes I even wanted to beg for it."

WHY THE desire?

"It's hard to explain," he said. "But if your buddy can't, and you can, that makes it something you want to do."

By the time his tour in the Army was nearing completion, Floquet was near the 100 total. On his final day of jumping in Algeria he went out three times twice to reach the century mark and a third time "to make sure I made one hundred."

Each of the 101 jumps was recorded with date and signature of his superior officer and the records were turned over to him upon discharge.

Part of the fascination of the parachute stems from the fact that landing safely and in a certain area is a physical science in itself and requires top physical conditioning. It was the same fascination that brought Floquet to become an amateur trapeze artist in his youth.

NOW THAT he is free of military service and back with his family, Floquet is looking forward to continuing his education and then entering business.

He hopes to complete requirements for a master's degree in business education at the Drexel Institute of Technology, Philadelphia. His business future still is indefinite, but he plans on a type of work that would enable him to visit France and at the same time permit him to make use of his bi-lingual abilities.

As for parachuting?

"The Army is past now. You have to stay with something like that to be able to do it safely."

"I have a family. And I have other work to do."

Salon Backers Hit

salon the past three years.

North End residents turned their verbal guns on Seidel for "butting into other people's business" and "trying to ruin a respectable and necessary business by an uncalled for display of jealousy."

Here's what a few supporters of the Derecolas had to say about the borough shutdown order and the salon's value to the community.

Mrs. Joseph T. Zukoski, wife of Dr. Joseph T. Zukoski, Pottstown RD 2:

"I think it's a crime the borough's committing in rescinding its original permit to the Derecolas and trying to force them out of business after 10 years," she said.

"It would be one thing if this business caused a public disturbance and caused trouble for anyone. But it never did."

"It only displeased one person, Seidel. And he's no more important than anyone else."

There's no reason he should be given such importance and power. He's just a jealous, unneighborly man," she said.

Mrs. Ethel M. Seick, 1450 North Keim street:

"This is the only beauty shop in this section of town. We moved out here to get away from the congestion of the main part of the borough."

I see no reason why we should be bludgeoned into going in town for a hairdo because of one man."

"Besides, with so many people out of work, what right has the borough to try to deprive 11 more people out of their jobs?"

"If the Derecolas were able to expand a one person operation into the thriving business it is now, they should be congratulated and not condemned."

Mrs. Albert D. Cimino, 210 North Keim street:

"I've lived less than a block from the beauty shop seven years. I've never heard any noise, seen any traffic problems, or heard anyone else but Seidel complain about the operation."

"Even if there were a traffic problem, couldn't it be remedied easily enough?"

"All it would require would be provision by the borough or the Derecolas

Man Plans to Fight Charge of Littering

A hearing date is tentatively scheduled for Monday night before North Coventry township Justice of the Peace Harry Anderson, in the case of a Stowe man charged with littering on the highways.

George Filson, Grosstown road, Pottstown Route 20, is named in information filed with Anderson by North Coventry Police Chief Charles Wilt.

A packing box from a mail order house, with Filson's name and address printed on it, was submitted as evidence.

Filson claims he didn't throw away the box and was not in the vicinity it was found. He added he'll fight the charge, which carries a fine up to $100 upon conviction.

Pottstown Mercury SPORTS

PAGE TWELVE SATURDAY, MAY 27, 1961

The Point Spread...

By WARREN HOWARD (Mercury Sports Writer)

JIMMY OEHLERT OF ROYERSFORD, who ran a 1:55.5 880 at Lafayette college earlier this Spring, will receive the Harry Jahn track award tonight at the Leopard's first annual athletic awards banquet. The award, which is presented each year, goes to the member of the track team who "exemplifies through his loyalty, effort, attitude and spirit the best in Lafayette track."

THE BUFFALO BISON EXPLAIN the rejuvenation of Dick Ricketts as a pitcher in two simple words—fast ball. Kerby Farrell, the Bisons' manager, has Ricketts throwing hard again, and it has paid off in three victories against one defeat, and that one was charged to a lack of Bison hitting, and two mis-played balls by Outfielder Ted Savage, one a double and the other into a triple, which led to Richmond runs and a 2-1 setback after Ricketts had hurled a five-hitter. He has been "shelled" on only one occasion—by Toronto, when he failed to last two innings. Otherwise, he has sparkled. . . . Ricketts' style had been completely changed by the St. Louis Cardinals, when he was "up" during 1959. He had been turned into a "cutie" and—as a result—had his worst season (11-13) with the Rochester Red Wings last year. "With his fast ball, why fool around with the cute stuff," Farrell has been quoted as saying. . . . Howie Bedell, who has been going for the Louisville Colonels after a slow start, has been relegated to left field by the return of Mack (The Knife) Jones from the parent Milwaukee Braves.

IF RON HALLMAN, WHO PITCHED Pottstown High's Trojans into the league playoff tilt with Coatesville, gets into the hill picture, the Red Raiders will be watching his move to first base with close scrutiny. Reason is, Hallman picked Tom Flood, the Raiders' top batter in their previous 7-1 win over the Trojans, off first once, and has a real good move to the sack. . . . When Francis Winterbottom said last month that if his Pottstown High Falcons didn't win the Inter-county league championship it would be his fault, he probably hadn't figured on Lower Merionland continuing its win streak through another season. The Lions however, knocked off the Birds twice, and have now won 22 straight contests. The Falcons have the consolation of their best season however, and second place in the class B circuit. They were also 4-0 for their outside (non-league) schedule, and if a couple of spots can be plugged up that graduation will open, should be tough again next year.

WINTERBOTTOM WAS TALKING ABOUT his three-year veteran catcher, Wayne Hurst. "I'm real proud of the kid," said Winterbottom. "He only had two bases stolen against him all year, and has been going real good at the plate. So we had two scouts at our last game (a loosely-played contest against Upper Dublin) so he has one single and throws the ball away twice." Take heart, Francis. The single drove in a run. And even Jim Gentile almost blew his chance with the Orioles, remember. . . . The Collegeville Lassie League will hold registration and tryouts this morning on the field at the Superior Tube company at 9:30. Girls between the ages of 10 and 15 inclusive, are eligible. . . . The Junior and Knee-Hi baseball leagues get underway Monday at Memorial park, bringing the Summer program to its full complement.

DISTRICT ONE FAVORED FOR 'A' CONFALON

Sigel Shoots 74-71—145 In Golf

UNIVERSITY PARK, (AP)—Defending Champion Jay Sigel of Lower Merion high school (District 1) shot a seven over par 145 here in Friday's qualifying round for the 27th annual PIAA golf championships.

The quarter final and part of the semi-final rounds of singles and doubles in the tennis championships were also completed here Friday.

The big plum — the track and field competition — gets under way Saturday with a total of 711 athletes representing 184 different high schools competing.

The defending champions are District 1, which won the class A championship on the strength of Haverford's 13 points and Norristown's 12. Norristown is figured to lead another District One surge this year.

DISTRICT 3 captured the B title on showings of 23 points by Columbia and 15 by Corn wall.

Among the individual champions who will be back to defend are Don Webster of Kennett Consolidated, who won the 220-yard dash and the quarter-mile on a sloppy track a year ago.

Tom Bedick of Moon Township, winner of the half-mile running event, will be back. BEDICK is expected to get competition from a pair of District 1 representatives, Quaker-town's Gary Dimmig and Bruce Carter of Pottstown.

Howard Goldsworthy of Ridley Township, who heaved the shot 56 feet five and a quarter inches for the 1960 title, will compete again this year.

Goldsworthy's latest mark was 57 feet four and a quarter inches in the District 1 championships. The State record is 57 feet four inches, set by Tom Urbanik in 1959.

The 1960 runner-up in the B division is also back for the State shot put competition. He is Dick Hart of Morrisville, who set a record of 57 feet 10 inches last year and won the District 1 title this Spring with a toss of 62 feet. He has also bettered 64 feet this year.

SIGEL SHOT 74-71 over 36 holes on the par 69 Penn State course to finish one stroke ahead of Bruce Frace of Lancaster (District 3) as the original field of 70 was cut to 24 for Saturday's final 18-hole round.

Frace shot 75 in the opening round and matched Sigel's 71 on the second 18. Bob Dembner of Reading (District 3) was third with a 72-76-148, and Steve Abbey of Baldwin (District 7) posted a 76-73-149.

The rest of the top 24 and their scores (districts in parentheses) are: Charles Meyers, Phillipsburg-Osceola (6) 75-76-151; Tom Cosgrove, Abington (1) 77-74-151; Lee Blick, Central Dauphin (3) 75-77-152; Tom Truschel, Penn Hills (7) 74-78-152; Mike Kress, Penn Hills (7) 77-75-152; Dave Bartholomew, Bethlehem (11) 78-75-153; Dave McAlees, Wilson (3) 76-77-153; Mike Dolbin, Central Dauphin (3) 77-77-154; Norm Rack, Elizabeth Forward (7) 77-77-154; Barry Masich, Berwick (4) 78-76-154; Joe Arasin, Coatesville (1) 74-82-156.

Title Tilt 'On' Today

Trojans Meet Coatesville for C-M Crown

It's all or nothing at all this afternoon when Pottstown High takes on Coatesville for the Ches-Mont championship at West Chester State college.

The Trojans — with the cunning guidance of Carl Kolanko — fought tooth and nail after a fast beginning to force the Upper section into a tie, before annexing a 4-3 win over Spring-Ford to take top honors.

Spring-Ford held a one-game edge and moved into Pottstown set to knock off the Trojans and the Upper title at Memorial park.

The strong right arm of Sophomore Ron Hallman handled the Spring-Ford swingers in neat style however. The Trojans meanwhile took advantage of every scoring chance and won the game 4-1.

THE REGULAR season ended with both clubs holding league slates of 7-5. Once again the stage was set for a clutch performance for the hustling Kolankomen.

Spring-Ford elected to go with John Miller. The sidearm thrower Ram was fresh off a nifty one-hit effort over Phoenixville. Hallman got the pitching nod for the Trojans.

Spring-Ford held a 1-0 lead going into the sixth stanza. One of the finest crowds of the season had seen the Pottstown club lose a scoring chance on a third strike squeeze bunt that resulted in a Ram double play to end the best Trojan threat of the day.

The ever-alert Trojans got the break they needed in the sixth, however, on a wild heave of a double play ball and went on to take a 3-1 lead. Spring-Ford came back with a pair in the seventh and Pottstown was forced into the eighth inning. Here Barry Saylor lined a two-bagger to score Bob Yeager and send the locals into tomorrow's contest.

THE TROJANS will again be the underdog when they do battle with Coatesville. The Raiders had little trouble when the two meet in the regular season game at Memorial park.

The Lower section kingpins Bill Mendenhall tossed a two-hitter—singles by Ed Laws and Bob Yeager—while Coatesville scored four runs in the first inning off Gerry Opalack and coasted to a 7-1 decision.

Hallman and Opalack will be ready for the call to duty this afternoon. Mendenhall, who beat the Trojans for the league crown a year ago will try to make it four wins in a row for Coatesville.

Averill Doubles Home Winning Run As Angels Beat Lary, Detroit 5-4

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An eighth inning double by Earl Averill brought in the winning run Friday night as the Los Angeles Angels knocked off the league-leading Detroit Tigers 5-4.

Right-hander Frank Lary, who leads the majors in victories with seven, suffered his second loss although he allowed only two earned runs.

Reliever Ryne Duren, who replaced Angel starter Ron Kline in the seventh, shut out the Tigers the last 1-3 innings and picked up his first win in four decisions.

Rocky Colavito hit the game's only home run. It was the Detroit outfielder's 12th this season. It tied him for the American League with Jim Gentile of Baltimore.

Norm Cash drove in Detroit's first run with a two-out single in the first inning, but the Angels tied in the bottom of the first on a triple by Leon Wagner and a single by Ted Kluszewski.

Cash, however, put the Tigers in command with another single in the third. It scored Billy Bruton, who also had singled.

Lary yielded only one harmless single from the second through

Nats Measure Twins 4-3 On Bright Blast in 6th

WASHINGTON (AP) — Harry Bright's bases-loaded single in the sixth inning drove home the tying and winning runs Friday night as the new Washington Senators took a 4-3 victory over the old ones, now the Minneapolis Twins.

It was the first meeting in Griffith Stadium for the fledgling Senators and the team which left Washington for Minneapolis-St. Paul. A good portion of the 14,033 fans booed their former heroes throughout the game.

Bright's two-run liner to right center enabled rookie right-hander Joe McClain to gain his fifth victory in eight decisions. It also brought the Senators even in their head-to-head match with the Twins, who had won two of their three meetings in Minnesota.

McClain gave up 7 hits, struck out 4 and walked 3. Jim Kaat, who pitched all the way for the Twins in losing his fourth game against one victory, surrendered eight safeties, including three by Willie Tasby, now on a 10-straight-game hitting binge.

Minnesota went ahead 3-2 in the sixth on Bright's throwing error, a single by Earl Battey and Billy Gardner's infield out.

Boys between the ages of 16 and 18 are eligible to play for the Steelers, defending champions of the Ches-Mont league.

Several key spots on the team are open, despite the expected return of veterans Pete Barth, Bill Logan, Nick Petro, Barry Swartz, George (Pete) Millard, Denny Psota, Warren (Pete) Mauer and Jim Myers.

The Steelers will open their 1961 season Sunday, June 4 with Downingtown at Enterprise field.

Grant, Lary Lack Ready Answer to Mound Jinxes

By JOE REICHLER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, (AP)—Jim (Mudcat) Grant, a fair pitcher with the Cleveland Indians, last week registered his 17th victory in 19 decisions with the Minnesota Twins, formerly the Washington Senators.

Detroit's Frank Lary has beaten the New York Yankees, usually a tough opponent for all other pitchers, 25 times while losing to them only eight times. He has whipped them twice in as many starts this season.

Why? "I wish I knew," said Grant. "Then maybe I'd have the same luck against the others."

The Indian righthander's luck has been somewhat less than good against the rest of the American league. Through the 1960 season, Grant's won and lost record against Washington was 16-2. Against the rest of the league, it was 13-24.

LARY CAN'T account for his peculiar success against the Yankees either.

"No one has to tell me the Yankees are rough," he said. "Better pitchers than I have had little success against them. They've been tough for me, too, but I've managed to beat them fairly consistently. Don't ask me why. I really don't know unless I unconsciously bear down a little harder against them because of their reputation."

Lary, up to this season, has been less than a .500 pitcher against the seven other American league clubs (71-72). He's a .767 performer against the Yankees.

Certain pitchers have certain pet teams, regardless of their strength. Lew Burdette of Milwaukee loves to pitch against the Pittsburgh Pirates whom he's beaten 23 times out of 30. Billy Loes of San Francisco has an 11-1 record against the Braves.

CAL McLISH, Chicago White Sox veteran owns eight of nine decisions over the Yankees. Roger Craig, Los Angeles Dodger righthander, has a 8-1 mark against the Giants. Baltimore's Milt Pappas is 7-1 against the White Sox and Tom Morgan, an obscure pitcher with the Los Angeles Angels, boasts a 15-3 mark against the Tigers.

Some pitchers have remarkable success against one club but are practically incapable of beating another. Don Larsen of Kansas City is 12-2 against Washington and 0-9 against Cleveland. Milwaukee's great Warren Spahn has victimized the Cincinnati Reds 57 times in 79 decisions, but the Dodgers have whipped him 31 out of 46.

Prior to this season, Jim O'Toole, young Reds' southpaw, beat the Chicago Cubs six out of seven but he lost all eight decisions to the Braves.

Bob Buhl, Braves' righthander, dotes on the Dodgers, whom he's beaten 23 out of 36, but the Reds love his fast ball. They've defeated him seven out of eight. Pittsburgh ace Vernon Law is tough on the Cards (18-9) but the Braves are tough on him. They beat him 20 out of 30.

PALMER LEADS IN 'SPEEDWAY'

1-Under-Par 70 Retains Opening-Day Pace By Stroke

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — U. S. Open Champion Arnold Palmer cooked a one-under par 70 on a "charcoal-broiled" speedway golf course Friday to hold the undisputed halfway lead in the $50,000 "500 Festival" tourney by one stroke.

Palmer's round of 35-35 included one birdie scored on a 60-foot putt on the 328-yard 12th hole. His 70 gave him a 137 total for the 36 holes.

A 25-mile an hour North wind in a 45-degree weather made conditions so miserable that charcoal burners and several dozen blankets were dispatched to helpers on the outposts.

Palmer, who blew a three-foot birdie putt on the 18th green, shook off the pair who had tied him at 67 for the lead in Thursday's first round. But Defending Champion Doug Ford picked up a stroke on Palmer with his second successive 69 to grab the runner-up spot with 138.

JIM FERREE and Johnny Pott who shared the first round lead with Palmer were among the many in the 155-man field whose play was numbed and buffeted by the rigorous weather.

Ferree ballooned to a 76 and Pott took a 72, settling for half-way scores of 143 and 139, respectively.

Pott remained two strokes off the pace with Australia's Peter Thomson and Mason Rudolph in the chase for the top prize of $90,000. Rudolph fashioned a 63 and Thomson had a 71 in Friday's frigid round for their 139 totals.

Next, at 140 were PGA leading money winner Gary Player of South Africa, Paul Harney and Art Wall. Player shot his second straight 70 while Harney had a 71 and Wall a 72.

Thursday, 38 players broke par 71 for the 6605-yard course in the speedway plant where the golden anniversary 500 will be raced Tuesday. Friday only a dozen were able to better par.

Chicago Options Score to Padres Of Coast League

NEW YORK (AP) — Left-hander Herb Score, only rarely effective since he was hit in the eye by a line drive in 1957, Friday night was optioned by the Chicago White Sox to San Diego of the Pacific Coast league.

"We want Herb to go out and work his way back to us," said Chicago Manager Al Lopez of the 28-year old southpaw who has won only 13 games since he was struck in the right eye by a line drive hit by Gil McDougald of the New York Yankees four years ago.

Before that, Score had established himself as one of the top young pitchers in the American league, winning 16 and losing 10 in his rookie season with Cleveland and following that with a 20-9 mark in 1956.

Both years he led the AL in strikeouts, with 245 as a rookie and 263 as a Sophomore.

After a long recuperation following the eye injury, Score returned to Cleveland briefly in 1958 and had a 2-3 record and after a 9-11 marks in 1959, was traded to the White Sox.

Lopez, who had managed him in Cleveland, made Score his special "project" at Chicago but he showed only a 5-10 record last season and was 1-2 so far this season and had walked 20 batters in 20 innings. Thursday night at Baltimore, he failed to last the first inning, walking three, allowing two hits, and being charged with four runs without retiring a batter.

Giants Top Chicubs 3-2 On Unearned Run in 13th

CHICAGO (AP) — The league-leading San Francisco Giants, defeating the Chicago Cubs for the 32nd straight time, scored two unearned runs in the 13th inning and downed the Cubs 3-2 Friday.

Two errors—a fumble by third baseman Ron Santo and a wild throw by outfielder Billy Williams—led to the Giants' final two runs. Harvey Kuenn, whose eighth-inning single produced the tying run, singled for the lead run before Felipe Alou scored on Williams' wide throw past the plate.

Sam Jones, fourth of five San Francisco pitchers, was the winner as Don Elston took the loss—his fourth against five wins.

Eddie Fisher closed out the 3-hour 40-minute marathon by getting Al Heist on a long fly to Felipe Alou after the Cubs picked up their second run while chasing Jones in the 13th.

Spahn Tames LA For 293rd Win; Home Runs Help

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Southpaw great Warren Spahn posted his fifth victory of the season and No. 293 of his career Friday night in hurling the Milwaukee Braves to a 10-2 triumph over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Spahn, who has lost three decisions in six complete games, held the Dodgers to seven hits, including three bunt safeties. He was aided by four Milwaukee double plays.

The Braves, reacting to near freezing weather like Eskimos, collected only seven hits themselves but capitalized on the wildness of the Los Angeles pitchers, some speedy base running which resulted in four thefts, and homers by Frank Thomas and Hank Aaron.

Dodger starter Stan Williams and reliever Jim Golden were charged with a total of 8 walks, 2 hit batsmen and 3 wild pitches. Dick Farrell pitched the eighth.

Thomas, acquired earlier this month from the Chicago Cubs, hit his 200th lifetime homer in the fifth. The two-run smash, following a walk, was Thomas' fourth of the year and second as a Brave.

The Youth Fellowship and Women's guild of Trinity United Church of Christ, Skippak, held a family night and covered dish supper in the education building. There were approximately 85 adults and children in attendance. A short program on stewardship was led by Mrs. Robert H. Kline.

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Haines and son, Tom, were Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Bohr and family of Williamsport.

A meeting of the directors and officers of the Hallman Family association of Skippak was at the home of the treasurer, Mrs. Eva B. Fausser, Bustard road. Approximately 16 members attended.

Mrs. Irene Palmer of Lansdale RD. and Mrs. Jessie LeJeune of Lucon accompanied the bus tour to the Battlefield of Gettysburg and also visited Lincoln's monument.

THE REV. PAUL E. Dershem conducted a service in Rahns chapel.

The Rev. Dershem, pastor of Trinity United Church of Christ, Skippak, officiated at the wedding of Sara Jeanette Landes, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Ivan C. Landes of Kulpsville, to Franklin Malcom Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Smith, Newport News, Vir. The marriage took place at the parsonage in Skippak. A reception followed at the "Old Village" in Kulpsville.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Spencer and son of Roxborough visited Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Feher and family. Bobby Marshall was a guest at the Feher home.

Mr. and Mrs. Karl H. Dambly of Hallman avenue entertained at a dinner celebrating the third birthday of their youngest son, Mark. The guests included Mrs. Fulvia Ciurla and Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Ciurla and children, Tommy and Leslie, all of Pottstown.

Rev. R. Miller Is Assigned To East Greenville

EAST GREENVILLE—Victor Stahl, Phone OR 9-7263, Miller's News Agency, Del., Phone OR 5-7467.

The Rev. R. D. Miller, Allentown native and a son of Seibert Evangelical Congregational church, was transferred to the pastorate of the East Greenville - Hosensack EC church. The assignment was among numerous changes made at the annual East Pennsylvania conference in Allentown.

The Rev. Miller, a graduate of Houghton college, was licensed to preach in 1952 and for the past two years has served the Egypt EC church. He was ordained a deacon during the recent conference action and will be graduated from the School of Theology at Myerstown in June.

The Rev. Miller, his wife and 5-month old daughter, will take up residence next week at the parsonage on Main street, adjacent to the Ebenezer EC church. He will conduct his first service at Grace EC church, Hosensack, tomorrow, at 10:10 a. m., and at Ebenezer church at 7:30 p. m.

The Rev. Miller succeeds the Rev. Richard Miles, who supplied the local church since January, when the Rev. Richard Kohl, pastor for more than three years, entered the Army as a chaplain.

Paul Eschbach, Zionville RD. served as lay delegate for the East Greenville - Hosensack charge during the recent conference sessions.

EVER HAPPEN TO YOU? by BLAKE

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

HORACE GREELEY was a great editor. He also had a terrible temper—and a worse handwriting. One day he wrote a torrid note dismissing from the New York Tribune a member of the staff who had fallen down completely on three big stories in a row.

Greeley didn't see the culprit again for years, but he recognized him at once and mused, "Let's see, didn't I get mad at you once and send you packing?"

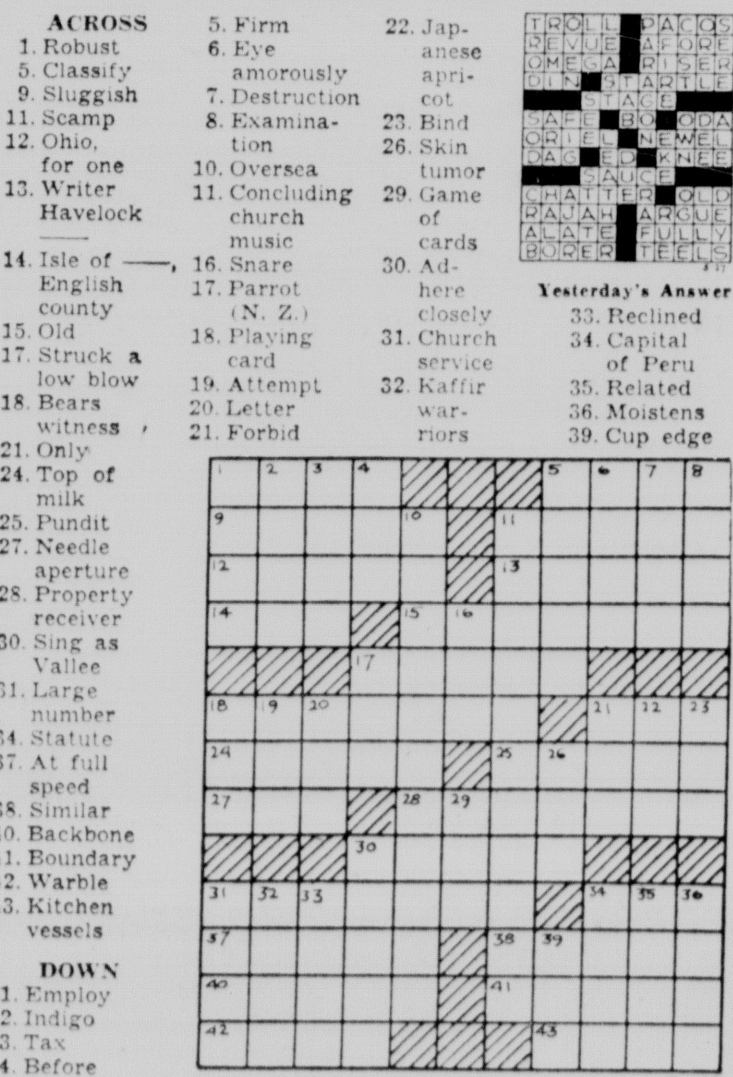

"That you did," smiled the other. "Your letter blistered my hide off. But nobody could read it. I told the next editor I approached that it was the warmest recommendation you ever had written in your life. He believed me, gave me a job—and now I own the paper. I'm really deeply indebted to you, Mr. Greeley."

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Weeder's Guide

By EARL ARONSON

AP Newsfeatures
When a fellow makes an All-American you like to know something about his background. The same is true about a rose, so we chose one of the brilliant Charlotte Arm-four 1962 All-America selections. This one is the John S. Armstrong, which, as we wrote recently, will be available next Fall with King's Ransom, Christian Dior, and Golden Slipper.

Below is the new grandiflora rose named for John S. Armstrong, 95 year old found of a California rose-breeding firm.

The dark, velvety-red new strong, a red hybrid, have been sold since then.

The Charlotte Armstrong was developed from Soeur Therese and Crimson Glory, the latter, incidentally, one of our favorites.

The seedling without a name was a cross from World's Fair and Floradora.

Armstrong has produced 17 of the 59 AARS varieties since he founded his nursery in Ontario, Calif., in 1890. He is the top winner. The Charlotte Armstrong has been a parent in the crossing of 12 AARS winners and many other popular roses.

Armstrong moved to California 75 years ago from Canada when he was told by doctors that a warm dry climate might add a few years to the life of a tuberculosis sufferer. The man who became 95 last October is still active in the firm he founded with a borrowed $25.

The trip from Canada to California was financed by $35 Armstrong received from the sale of an inland, wooden clock he had made. A quarter of a century later, the one-time cabinet maker returned to Canada and bought back the clock for $45 from a barkeep who had taken it from a poor credit risk.

Guano Cache Is Valuable

GRAND CANYON, Ariz. — Tourists visiting this largest "hole" in the U. S. landscape often wonder about the little cable cars that span the canyon and disappear into caverns in the steep walls. What are they soil, to replace that taken out by taking out of these natural caves, the growing corn stalk. It frightened and confused the answer is guano, the old first farmers when each sea-partially responsible for it. When the Indian planted corn, first he buried a dead fish in the hill with the seed. He knew the value of fertilizer, was the first American's first real conservationist. Scientists today will tell you it was a simple treatment—and disappear into caverns in the steep walls. What are they soil, to replace that taken out by taking out of these natural caves, the growing corn stalk. It frightened and confused the answer is guano, the old first farmers when each sea-

Since the days of the pioneers crop yields in the United States have doubled, in some cases tripled. The answer is the proper use of fertilizers to restore soil "balance."

est commercial fertilizer known. Guano is a sort of grab-bag of birds, bats, seals, accumulated in arid regions and in dry caves.

At the Grand Canyon, the guano is recovered today at great physical risk because of its value. The deposits in these caves are age-old. Peruvian guano was used as a fertilizer in the U. S. as early as 1824.

Man today has learned a very important lesson: if he takes from the soil, he must put back. If he cuts a tree, he must plant a seedling.

Even volcanoes today are contributing agents to land restoration. Alunite, a mineral complex that is a natural deposit of the geological past, is being blended with the standard fertilizers to day to replace trace elements depleted in the soil by continuous farming.

If you're buying larger fruits and vegetables today than mother ever knew, perhaps alunite is son's crop was smaller in size and less vigorous in color. They didn't understand that soil, like humans, can be overworked.

Nutrients were absorbed steadily and not replaced. Then farmers observed mother nature—copied her methods.

One thing they learned was that leaves, roots, insects and animals were as useful dead as alive. Decaying, they freshened the earth. Ground bones, supplying phosphorus, dried blood, animal fur, horns, feathers, all were pressed into service as fertilizers of the soil.

Farmers looked at a quiet field and realized it was alive with nature's farmers: prairie dogs, woodchucks, chipmunks and mice ground and mixed the soil while making burrows. Organic matter carried underground for food and nesting eventually became part of the soil.

Worms by the thousands made air and water passages through the field, brought healthy subsoil to the surface, passed enormous quantities of organic material through their digestive systems, making plant nutrients available to crops. Ants and other insects worked frantically at the same job.

Where animals roamed plants grew luxuriantly. Farmers learned to use the waste materials from live animals to fertilize the ground. Throughout the world today, slaughterhouse wastes—rich in nitrogen—are used for fertilizer. Perhaps this came by accident: at first these wastes were spread on the ground to get rid of them.

Tankage, fish meal, even sewage sludge is valuable today as fertilizer. These are the ammoniates, and include cottonseed, castor and linseed meals, cocoa cake and tobacco stems.

Cigarette manufacturers often package ground bits of tobacco today for fertilizer mixtures. Tiny amounts of zinc, copper, manganese, boron, cobalt, iron and iodine are the trace elements needed in soil restoration.

Two Major State Agencies Quarrel Over Water Control

HARRISBURG, Pa. — Two major rules committee for further conservation commission. The State Soil Conservation district system covers all but 14 counties. It is anxious to include those. Actually, soil and water conservation are inseparable. The federal-state plan. At the national level it is administered by the U. S. Agriculture department.

However, the State law implementing the program limits its administration to farmers — a fact sharply resented by other interests in districts covered by the program.

Urban interests, particularly, feel they are discriminated against by the State program. What is worse, they feel the system poses a threat of farm domination of water resources.

Meanwhile, the forests and waters program has stepped up its campaign for laws providing water conservation for a broad range of future needs.

Goddard has frequently cited a growing competition between agriculture, industry and population for available supplies.

An effort to broaden the soil conservation law to allow administration by other than farmers was killed by House farm interests—leading ultimately to the demise of the bill. They were concerned about the possibility of urban domination of water resources.

At the root of the problem are some old disputes between various state and federal conservation agencies. For example, the Forests and Waters department favors a program of multiple dam construction to provide flood control, recreation and water supply.

The soil conservation program favors a broad program of proper drainage and water control at sources with the aim—expected—of preventing erosion. The soil conservationists contend that a system of larger multipurpose dams alone could not prevent erosion.

A similar squabble has continued for years at the federal level between the Army corps of engineers—usually big dam proponents—the Interior department and the Agriculture department.

Modern Manners

By CAROLYN HAGNER SHAW

HELPFUL HINTS TO THE GIRL GRADUATE

Shakespeare once asked a "What's in a name?" The answer is "everything!" Why? Because it personifies YOU. Whether you have a good reputation, or a bad one, depends entirely on your actions, now and in the future.

Many young women will be graduating from high school in the next few weeks. Some are planning to attend college next fall. Others intend to get a foothold in the business world.

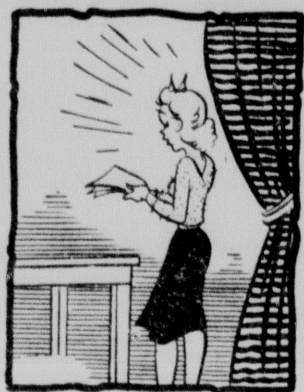

Regardless of your decision, one attribute can mean the success (or failure, if you don't have it) of your future. This attribute is to thoroughly understand that a woman's reputation is her most precious possession.

If you take the attitude of "I'm grown up now and will do as I please," and defy conventions, others will think that you don't care what impression you make. The result of such tactics is that you will find yourself on the outside looking in — on decent folk, I mean.

If your mode of life has included any of the following, it's time to do a little soul-searching and change your ways. Now. Not later.

Have you been dating a boy who has a bad reputation? If so, you can be sure that people will place you in the same category. Have you been seen in unsavory taverns, drinking and making merry at all hours? Perhaps you think this is smart. Or you do it for kicks, thinking it will make you seem sophisticated and grown-up? Nothing could be further from the truth. You may succeed in getting yourself talked about, and not in complimentary terms, believe me!

Have you been adding to this unpleasant picture by wearing flashy clothes and plastering yourself with make-up? Also, in your attempt to seem like a woman of the world, have you been cultivating the habit of talking in a loud tone of voice, accompanied by much raucous laughter?

If it's attention you want, following any of the above mentioned procedures will get it for you. But if you want to be a real person, it won't be the kind of attention you really desire.

My little tirade has been an effort to bring home to young girls that dignity and a common-sense attitude about what should be done—and what should not—can, and will, bring big rewards. Instead of being pointed out as "That wild Mary Doe," it will be "That charming, attractive Mary Doe."

Which are you aiming for? It's up to you to decide which side of the ledger your name belongs on. How about it?

QUESTION: I have five nieces and six nephews. One of them seems to be getting married every day or so! My means are limited, so I am wondering if a small check to each one, say for ten dollars, is sufficient as a gift? This seems very little, but I can't afford more.

ANSWER: I see no reason why a check in this amount would not be perfectly all right. But if you are worried about it, why not purchase a gift, costing about the same, for each one? Many nice things can be bought in the stores now. If you select carefully, there is no way in which they would know the cost of the gifts.

WHO, ME?—A sign in front of a Roanoke College fraternity house in Salem, Va., saying keep off the grass in eight languages, doesn't bother Steven Robertson. He can't read.

South Korea Junta Meets With Magruder

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — The South Korean army ended its 10-day rebellion against U. S. Gen. Carter B. Magruder's United Nations Command Friday after extracting several concessions from Magruder.

The four-star general regained control over all military forces in South Korea after agreeing to use the troops solely for defense against Communist aggression and after releasing to the ruling junta an estimated 3,800 soldiers to occupy Seoul.

Magruder, 61, looked weary almost exhausted, as he announced the agreement following two days of tough negotiations with a young Korean lieutenant colonel sent to his headquarters by the junta.

Indicating he was irked at repeated defiance of his orders since the Korean army's successful May 16 coup, Magruder said slowly: "I consider that my operational control has been restored to a considerable degree rather than fully, because authority that has once been flouted can be re-established only by its implicit observance over a long period."

Magruder, who retires next month, was portrayed, meanwhile, as having been tricked by a young Korean general into disbelieving advance leaks about the impending coup.

Paratroop Col. Park Chi-ok told newsmen Magruder learned in advance the coup was planned and promptly questioned Lt. Gen. Chang Do-yung, now premier and chief of the supreme ruling council. Chang, who was and still is army chief of staff, told Magruder there was nothing to the reports, Park said.

Officials within Magruder's U. N. headquarters confirmed there had been such a meeting between Chang and Magruder. They said Chang apparently convinced the U. S. general no coup was being planned.

Park said Chang had acquiesced in the planning of the coup by deliberately ignoring repeated leaks on the conspiracy.

He also reported the paratroopers who seized Seoul tricked the U. S. military advisers by letting air out of their jeep tires and preventing them from going along on what was scheduled as a routine jump maneuver.

According to Park, Chang was a mere front man for the uprising which was organized mainly by young colonels who had the counsel and leadership of Maj. Gen. Pak Chung-hi, now vice chairman of Gen. Chang's council.

The young colonels have demonstrated their influence the past few days in several ways. After some delay, they succeeded in getting Park's report past the junta censors and into the newspapers.

More significantly, they defied orders from Chang to withdraw occupying troops from Seoul and vetoed parts of a draft agreement on this matter between Pak and Magruder. Then they forced the U. N. commander to negotiate with one of their number, Lt. Col. Kim Chong-pil, the junta's security chief.

In the resulting agreement, Magruder released to the junta two Korean reserve divisions, the 1st Airborne Combat Team and five military police companies from forward units, estimated at 3,800 men. In exchange, the Korean 1st Marine Brigade and 6th Corps Artillery units in Seoul were returned to U. N. control so as "to restore the strength of this front," in the words of the joint announcement.

Magruder apparently was rebuffed on his original demand that he have the right to pass on major command changes in the 325,000-man Korean army before they occur.

Before the coup, which overthrew Premier John M. Chang's elected government, Magruder had this right. But the junta leaders have replaced, without his approval, several top commanders who refused to back the rebellion. Early in the revolt, Magruder called on South Korea's armed forces to refuse support to the junta.

Carrie M. Reed, Stowe Resident Dies In Hospital

Carrie M. (Stein) Reed, 78, widow of Edward H. Reed, of 229 Glasgow street, Stowe, died Friday in Memorial hospital, where she was a patient one week, after a lengthy illness.

Her husband, a partner in the Reed Brothers Coal yard, West High street, died in April, 1959. She was born in Hedges, Schuylkill county, daughter of the late Daniel S. and Lydia (Ely) Stein, and lived here most of her life.

Mrs. Reed was a member of St. Peter's Lutheran church, Stowe, the Lutheran United Women and Schuylkill chapter 338, Order of the Eastern Star.

Surviving are a brother Walter C. Stein and two sisters, Mamie, wife of Arthur Huff, and Mrs. Nancy Wisler, all of Norristown. Funeral services will be 2 p. m. Monday from the Lundbye Funeral home, Orwigsburg.

The Rev. Victor A. Kroninger, pastor of St. Peter's Lutheran church, Stowe, will officiate. Interment will be in Salem Evangelical cemetery, Orwigsburg. Local arrangements are being handled by the Schumacher and Reber Funeral home, 359 King street.

Ex-Businessman Dies at Age 80

Joseph Guckin, 80, widower of Theresa (Cooper) Guckin, of Schwenksville RD 1, died Friday afternoon at Memorial hospital after an extended illness.

He was born in Philadelphia and operated his own ice business in the Schwenksville area until the 1930s.

He is survived by his sons, Joseph, of Schwenksville; Robert, of Philadelphia; Frank, of Feasterville; and Paul, of Crofton; a brother, John, of Philadelphia; four sisters, Agnes, Kate, Laurette and Emma, all of Philadelphia; 16 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be Wednesday at 9 a. m. from the Edwin Guckin Funeral home, Philadelphia. Solemn requiem mass will be celebrated at Ascension church, Philadelphia, at 10 a. m. Interment will be Holy Sepulchre cemetery, Philadelphia.

Funeral services for ANNA (WEAVER) REITNOUR, widow of G. Newton Reitnour, SPRING CITY RD 1, were Friday at 2 p. m. from the White Memorial home, Parker Ford.

Officiating was the Rev. Richard Dettrey pastor of St. Luke's United Church of Christ, Trappe, and former pastor of St. Matthew's UCC, Anselma. Interment was in Oak Grove cemetery, Parker Ford.

Bearers were William J. Barre and Robert Reitnour, G. Newton Reitnour 3d, Ronald Stiles and Robert E. Wilson.

Ratterman's Associate Indicted by Grand Jury

NEWPORT, Ky. (AP) — The administering or causing to have administered to him (Ratterman) day night indicted Tito Carinci of Newport and returned a surprise indictment against Thomas E. Paisley, Medina, Ohio, trusted business associate of George Ratterman, charging them with conspiracy to bring about Ratterman's arrest in what Newport police said was a vice raid.

The indictments grew out of Ratterman's arrest early last May 9 with a strip-tease dancer in the Glenn Hotel. Carinci is manager of the hotel and an associated night spot, the Tropicana. The indictment charged Carinci and Paisley with conspiring on or about May 8, to cause a false prosecution against Ratterman. The indictment accused them of

Reds Invite Loren

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union has invited Italian actress Sophia Loren to attend Moscow's second annual Film Festival starting July 9, Tass reported Friday. The Soviet news agency quoted announcements by Soviet Culture Minister Ekaterina Furtseva that Simone Signoret and Yves Montand also had been invited.

Singer Edith Piaf Reported Improved

PARIS (AP)—French singing star Edith Piaf, who underwent an operation at the American Hospital in Paris Wednesday, was reported to be making steady improvement. Doctors said she should be able to leave hospital in about two weeks. She has been dogged by ill-health and suffering a liver ailment for years.

Senate Approves Medal for Hope

WASHINGTON (AP)—A resolution to award a gold medal to comedian Bob Hope "in recognition of his services to the country and to the cause of world peace," was passed by unanimous voice vote in the Senate Friday. It now goes to the House.

Ninety-six of the Senate's 100 members joined in introducing the resolution. The other four said they have fixed policies not to cosponsor legislation.

The resolution praises Hope for his "firm and imaginative support to humanitarian causes of every kind," and his morale building visits to far-flung military bases to entertain members of the armed forces.

Johnson Denies Buying 48 Shirts; Says He Actually Bought 82

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson Friday denied a report that he bought 48 shirts in Hong Kong. It was 82 shirts, he said.

Asked about the shirts during an appearance at the National Press Club, Johnson explained that his round-the-world goodwill party paused overnight in Hong Kong for a rest.

He decided that silk shirts at $4 each would be appropriate mementoes for his associates, staff, 15 airplane crew members and 40 newspapermen accompanying him. He guessed at each person's size.

He went to the Dynasty Co. in Hong Kong, run by a businessman named Linden Johnson, no relation.

The vice president went on: "We were tailed to the shop by the British Secret Service. They, with the cooperation of a stringer (local correspondent) for The Associated Press, came to the shop."

"They stood outside and watched, and made reports every 30 minutes or so."

"As usual, they were very prudent. They underestimated the number. We really bought 82."

Wedding Waltz

Sweden's Princess Birgitta and her fiance, Prince Johann Georg of Germany, dance in the opening dance at the Royal Palace in Stockholm, Sweden, on the eve of their wedding.

Lebanon Textile Workers Strike

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—About 8,000 workers in Lebanon's textile factories struck Friday, protesting low wages. They asked for application of a recently passed law raising wages 15 per cent. Most factory owners refused to apply the law on the ground they had given the workers several salary raises in the past five years. Factory owners called on the president to intervene and end the strike.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love & Marriage

Sister With Inferiority Complex Resents Her

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I have a sister who seems to have an inferiority complex and she takes it out on me. I'm the younger one, being 17, and she's nearly 19.

She's always been kind of shy with boys and she's jealous of me because I get on with them fine. I've tried to help her, but I guess I should have let it all alone because I'm now in trouble with her on account of it.

What happened was that about six months ago I introduced her to the older brother of the fellow I've been going with. He's 20, which should be just the right age for her and my boy friend is 18 so we're just right for each other, too.

She and this fellow were getting on fine, but for some reason she's lately been accusing me of trying to steal him away from her. I can't imagine how she'd ever get such an idea, as I'd never think of going with anyone but my own boy friend.

I wouldn't steal anybody else's boy friend anyhow.

Don't you think she's all crazy and mixed up, and what am I going to do about it, because the way she goes on is very miserable for me?

ALICE: Your sister does indeed have an inferiority complex, which has of course been aggravated by the fact that you've always been popular with boys and she hasn't.

It's hard enough for any sister to see herself outdone in this way by another, but it's doubly hard when the popular one is younger than she is.

What I suggest is that you try to build up her confidence in herself in very way you can.

Think of, being constantly on and mixed up, and what am I

the watch for things on which

Always remember that a word of praise accomplishes much that hours of argument never can, even though the argument has been well meant, and use all your power to keep from letting her make you mad so that you say unkind things to her. And any time she says anything about your stealing her boy friend, just say lightly "Don't be silly" and bring up another subject.

Try and realize that the person with an inferiority complex needs love and understanding far more than the one who has normal self-confidence—and act accordingly, even when she has a mean-tempered spell. Realize, too, that, basically, it's not you she's mad at but herself.

If you really set out to make yourself an understanding friend as well as a sister to her, you may eventually be surprised at the happy results.

Grace Is Bemused

Her admiration for President John F. Kennedy is clearly indicated by Princess Grace of Monaco as he escorts her to the royal car outside the White House. The former film star Grace Kelly, of Philadelphia, and her husband, Prince Ranier of Monaco, were guests of President and Mrs. Kennedy at a luncheon during their Washington visit.

ROA IS NAMED

HAVANA (AP)—The government announced Thursday that Foreign Minister Raul Roa will represent Cuba at a meeting starting June 5 in Cairo to organize a world conference of underdeveloped nations.

Ben-Gurion Plans Visit to Paris

PARIS (AP)—Israel's Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion will visit Paris June 5-7, the government announced, en route home from Canada and the United States. He meets with President Charles de Gaulle June 6.
